PAYMENT OF TAXES

Percentage Collected This Year Expected to Be Even More Than Last.

HALF PAYMENT PLAN

Large Taxpayers Take Advantage of It—Misunderstanding That Cost Money.

There are six weeks left in which to pay the current taxes on real estate, the treasurer's office at the court house is receiving taxes in considerable amounts, several very large checks having come in within a few days. Last year the real estate taxes were paid right up to the handle, leaving only about 10,000 descriptions unpaid out of the total of nearly 150,000 descriptions. This year the prospects are as much or more will be paid, as last year. The big taxpayers, though, are taking advantage of the half-payment system, by which half of the year's real estate taxes may be paid in May and the other half in October without penalty. It is mostly the larger taxpayers that do this, however, as for a small taxpayer it is hardly worth while to make two trips to the court house. The big taxpayers, however, can save enough interest on the second half during the six months time that is given to make it an advantage, and there is no question but that the plan has resulted in increasing payments of taxes.

This law has been in operation about two years, and yesterday The Herald asked Assistant County Treasurer Williamson how largely the property owners are availing themselves of it. He replied that his own estimate would be that one-third of the amount, or of the number of descriptions or taxpayers, is paid in installments. The proportion of the number of taxpayers would be very much smaller, because most of those that avail themselves of the plan are very large taxpayers.

Through a misunderstanding of the law a certain outside lumber company lost a good deal of money last year. It owns a very large amount of land in this county, and while timber lands are not assessed very high here its taxes amount to a large sum. In the half-payment system, and concluded it would try it. So one of its employees sent in word that it wished to pay the taxes on the undivided half of the lands last May. This was done. In the fall the company came in and wanted to pay the other half. The representative of the company was very much surprised to learn that a penalty had been attached to the other half.

The mistake had come in through the employee's misunderstanding of the law. He particularly directed that he was paying the tax in full on an undivided half of the land. The law provides that half the tax may be paid and the other half put off without penalty. By failing to understand the distinction between paying half the tax and paying in full the tax on half the land, the employee cost his company a large sum in penalties.

HELD TO GRAND JURY. Young Filippi Doto Must Answer For Robbing His Father.

Yesterday afternoon Filippi Doto, the little Italian boy arrested in Chicago last week by Officer Anthony J. Fiskett, was examined in the municipal court charged with stealing $240 in gold coin from his father, Giovanni Doto. The theft occurred last January and young Doto disappeared, and it was thought that he had gone back to Italy to visit his mother and sweetheart. Officer Fiskett, however, learned through friends that he was for the time being the king of the Chicago's Italian colony in social affairs, and last week Chief Grandall sent Mr. Fiskett to Chicago for the boy. He was landed after much trouble and secretly taken from the Huron street station house to the Northwestern depot, in order to avoid trouble with his many Italian friends, who said they would raise $1000 to keep the boy in Chicago.

The court held young Doto to await the next grand jury, and his bail was fixed at $500, in default of which the boy was locked up in the county jail. The money Doto is accused of stealing is at present in the savings bank of home, or else on its way back to the country, as Doto, repeating of his action in sending it to Rome when he could have made such good use of it in Chicago, had made application for it through the Italian consulate.

Another interesting case yesterday was that of Alexander Neizgodaz against Adorjike Jazamalik. The first man was found guilty of beating the second man's face and hand $20. It was one of the four county assault cases that came for trial in the municipal court. The trouble occurred near the settlement of Conosin. Neizgodaz had some timber which Jazamalik covet, but the latter had the price. He was accused of getting the entire Neizgodaz family under the thumb of the law, and the condition set the timber at a very nominal sum. Neizgodaz failed to appear, and the case was postponed to a meeting Jazamalik on the next one day, he went after him with a stick of cordwood.

A NEW SUPERINTENDENT.

Miss Mary G. Thornton Takes Charge of St. Luke's Hospital.

Miss Mary G. Thornton, formerly of Detroit, has been elected superintendent of St. Luke's hospital and St. Luke's training school for nurses. She succeeds Miss Sophia L. Rutley, who has resigned to accept a position as superintendent of the training school in Detroit. Miss Rutley has been in charge of St. Luke's for the past two years, and as a nurse and superintendent is highly spoken of by the leading physicians of this city. She has introduced several important methods of caring for the patients during her administration over the affairs of St. Luke's and leaves Duluth much to the regret of many friends. Miss Thornton was very highly recommended to the board. She is a graduate of the training school connected with the Harper hospital in Detroit. After graduation she held a very important and responsible position in the Woman's hospital and Foundling home of that city and comes here with a splendid professional reputation.

PARK BOARD MEETS.

Re-Elects Officers and Talks Over Park Plans.

The board of park commissioners held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon, elected officers or rather re-elected officers for there were no changes made and discussed the work for the coming year. Luther Mendelhall was chosen president again and B. Silberstein, vice president, and H. C. Helm, secretary. The salary of the latter as secretary was reduced from $30 to $25, but to offset this reduction the secretary was appointed superintendent of parks for eight months in a year at a salary of $100 a month, making an annual salary of $1200. Last year Mr. Helm received $50 a month and $75 additional for nine months while acting as superintendent of parks, making a total of $1225 a year.

There was an informal discussion of the proposed lake shore driveway and bicycle path down Park Point, as suggested in Mayor Hugo's inaugural address, and the proposed West Duluth park was also talked over.

MANY ARE OPPOSED

Proposition to Lengthen the School Year Is Not Generally Approved.

ADVISED TO GO SLOW

Many Taxpayers Think Caution and Prudence Is Still Necessary.

Some days ago The Herald noticed the fact that there is a movement to increase the length of the school year to ten months. The year was shortened some time ago, and the business of the city and school district were not in very good condition, and the cutting off of about one month of school made a considerable reduction in the yearly expense of operating the school. The finances of the school board are to be considerably replenished, but it was only through a large sacrifice and extraordinary inducements, and the warning is given that it may be well to wait a time and see what the new condition of affairs will bring forth. It is argued further by those who take this view that nine months is long enough for children to attend school and that they will be just as well off if they go only that length of time as if they go one month longer. The school board has, like other branches of the local government, had to run for some years in constant fear of a deficit, and there are a large number of taxpayers who think it might not be a bad idea to run for a little while in the fear of having a surplus.

In this same line there was considerable criticism of the recent attempt to secure a general rise of salaries of city employees. The city treasury is in very poor condition so far as having cash on hand is concerned. It is true that the city is in very much better condition but the actual cash is low. The recent scramble for city offices does not indicate to the taxpayers that there was any great danger of a deficit. The city is tired and many new and taking features have elsewhere been added. The more satisfactory feature of the city is the story of Larry Moody, an expressman, who is mistaken for O'Donovan Dunn, member of parliament, who is making his first visit to America. Gen. Stonewall Blazer, who has marriageable daughters, shows favors upon him and he has a merry time until he meets Mr. Dunn arrives. The ridiculous incidents follow each other so fast and furious that the audience are kept in an almost continuous roar.

School Board Knocks a Greedy Real Estate Agent's Deal.

A real estate agent is out of a deal because he reached a little too far. The board of education had the site of the new school house at the West End practically settled but it had not definitely announced its selection for fear of just what happened. The board had its eye on a certain piece of property that it believed would do very nicely. It was discovered that the price was $2500, and that was about right for the board thought. But when the real estate man found out it was wanted for a public purpose he discovered that the price would look better at $3500. It was afterward reduced to $2500, but the school board would have none of it.

Yesterday a meeting was held and a new plan was decided upon. The old Monroe school will be moved from the property on which it is located, the board getting as much out of it as possible by selling it. Then a new building of eight rooms will be put up on the plan of the Webster school.

DONINGS OF CONGRESS

Senate Accepts Conference Report on Legislative, Executive and Judicial Bill.

TALK ON QUAY'S CASE

Address By Burrows Against Seating the Man From Pennsylvania.

Washington, April 12.—When the senate convened today, Mr. Burrows presented the conference report on the legislative, executive and judicial bill.

The report was agreed to. Mr. Jones, chairman of the Democratic committee, addressing the senate on a question of personal privilege, defended his action in opposing an amendment to the Porto Rico relief bill proposing to refund the duties that had been collected from the people of Porto Rico to the people who had paid those duties. This action was attacked by Mr. Doolittle in the house yesterday during the debate on the Porto Rico tariff and government bill.

Mr. Jones said he had offered his resolution from the conviction that the government of the United States had no right to levy any tariff duties upon products coming from Porto Rico, and if the government had not such right it was common honesty to give the money back to the people who had paid it.

He said that he is not in the confidence of the sugar trust and had never looked to see who had paid the revenues nor where this money would go. He had withdrawn the amendment, having become satisfied that the whole matter would be left to the courts to decide.

Mr. Morgan made an unsuccessful attempt to have the Nicaragua canal bill made the order of business for 2 o'clock April 20. Mr. Burrows then addressed the senate on the resolution relative to the seating of Mr. S. Quay as senator from Pennsylvania. He said in part:

Mr. Burrows said that as a member of the committee on privileges and elections called upon two years ago to consider the case of Henry W. Cortright, appointed a senator by the governor of Oregon he was "forced to the conclusion that the bill of appointment in that case was not in the committee's report. The senate contained that report by a vote of 12 to 10. Since that time I have seen nothing to cause me to reverse my judgment; further examination of the bill only tends to strengthen and confirm it. The material facts in this case are the same. The only change is in the name of the party seeking admission to the senate. Then it was ex-Senator Cortright, now it is ex-Senator Quay. A change of parties certainly ought not to produce a change of conclusions.

Mr. Burrows continued: "The question is a question of supreme moment," said he, "to all the people of all the states in this union, and the issue is still about a year ago the Boston and Montana secured an injunction in the supreme court restraining the Montana Ore Purchasing company from working disputed portions of the rich Pennsylvania copper mine at Butte. Last month the Boston and Montana filed sensational charges against officials of the ore company, alleging that they had wilfully and fraudulently violated the injunction, with a motion that the latter be cleared for contempt. This motion is now being argued. The defendant contends that the sensational affidavit is based upon hearsay and consequently insufficient. Many witnesses will be examined and the matter fully considered at every stage of the proceedings.

PROPER DELAY. Frankfort, Ky., April 12.—The attorneys for the Republican officials this afternoon decided to delay the agreement to hasten litigation for the possession of minor state offices through the state courts so that the supreme court can hear it with that for governor. No reason is assigned.

FUSIONISTS WON. Portland, Ore., April 12.—The Republican, Democratic, Populist and Silver Republican state convention met in this city today after effecting temporary organization and appointing committees, all the candidates for office until the afternoon. There threatened to be a capture of the legislature but only to secure a sufficient number of adherents to prevent an election of the state at allment, when Governor Stone can again disregard the mandate of the people and shut down a session of the legislature and issue a writ to Senator Quay to hold a session of the legislature next meeting of the legislature, but while it was in session and remained in session for forty-seven days after Mr. Burrows maintained that the governor clearly had no constitutional authority to appoint Mr. Quay as senator.

Drury of the British Canadian army, consisting of Canadian artillery and mounted infantry, veterinary and ambulance companies, is here this morning. They found the district traversed orderly and well disposed.

BRIEF SESSION. Washington, April 12.—The morning session of the Court of Appeals investigation was very brief because of the absence of witnesses, and the hearing went over until 2 p. m.

ARMY PROMOTIONS. Washington, April 12.—The president today sent the following promotions to the senate: Army colonels, Forty-sixth Infantry—To captain, First Lieut. H. H. Shuman to first lieutenant, Second Lieut. R. L. Kavanaugh.

CONFERENCE AGREED. Washington, April 12.—The conferees of the two houses today reached an agreement on the legislative, executive and judicial conference bill. As agreed upon the bill carries an appropriation of $1,000,000 for the construction of a canal across the state of New York, and the conferees agreed upon increasing the salary of the speaker of the house from $50,000 to $60,000 and increasing the salary of the speaker of the senate from $40,000 to $50,000.

COMMITTEES SATISFIED. Kansas City, April 12.—Five members of the Democratic national committee, who came here today to ascertain whether Kansas City would be preferred for the national convention at St. Louis, were assured that all promises would be fulfilled. The committee has formally declared its preference for Kansas City, and a national convention in July, the local committee having made satisfactory promises.

Pennsylvania, is the senate of the United States prepared to endorse a construction which would lead to such results? Under the construction of the minority, upon the admission of a new state into the Union, if the legislature should neglect or refuse to elect senators, who could the executive of the state appoint the senators until the legislature should convene. This doctrine, it seems to me, and indeed has been frequently asserted, leads inevitably to this conclusion. If this doctrine is to be put into political operation while the people know the senate is always full in the language of the senator from Massachusetts, yet you may be sure it will also keep the states always full of discord and dissension, breed dangerous factions, excite parties, excite passions, excite mobilities and surely end in revolt and revolution.

After reviewing at great length the precedents, Mr. Burrows closed his remarks on the Cortright case, showing that Mr. Burrows voted against Cortright and Mr. Quay against Cortright against him. In conclusion he said:

And let me say to senators that no sooner shall you have established the doctrine contended for by the minority, than there will be a popular uprising in this country which no power can resist or suppress. To the people of this country, and to the people of the world, the senators and the people of the world are all controlled over the election of senators and lodge it at the sovereign people.

IN THE HOUSE. Washington, April 12.—Mr. Cooper, of the committee on insular affairs, called on the house today the resolution for which he has asked unanimous consent several times, to authorize the secretary of the treasury to designate banks in Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines as government depositories.

Similar amendments were offered and rejected, the debate at times being quite spirited. The resolution was passed.

TO RUSH IT. Republican Senators Will Force the Shipping Bill at This Session.

Washington, April 12.—The definite intention of the Republican senators to seek to have the shipping subsidy bill passed at the present session was announced today. The present purpose is to have the bill taken the place of "unfinished business" when the Quay resolution and the Philippine bill are disposed of. The friends of the shipping bill estimate that the Philippine bill will be out of the way by the time set for a vote on the Quay case, which is April 24.

MINE CASE HEARING. St. Paul, April 12.—A Helena Mont, special court has already spent one entire day in hearing arguments in the big state of this state, and the case is still about a year ago the Boston and Montana secured an injunction in the supreme court restraining the Montana Ore Purchasing company from working disputed portions of the rich Pennsylvania copper mine at Butte. Last month the Boston and Montana filed sensational charges against officials of the ore company, alleging that they had wilfully and fraudulently violated the injunction, with a motion that the latter be cleared for contempt. DULUTH'S GREATEST STORE...

WITH THE CLOSE of today's business we will have introduced to perhaps seventy-five per cent of Duluth's population, and we are prone to say introduced in such a favorable way our new business home as to cause it to be long remembered by all who visited us. We have so far only called your attention, and with pardonable pride, we hope, to the magnificent superb trade place we have furnished for Duluth and its tributary vicinages. The immense amount of approval and encouragement we have received from our thousands of friends who visited the store during the short period of our opening days is a source of extreme satisfaction to us; and comes partly as a reward for all the work done and money expended in this great enterprise. To say any more of the store itself, its elegant furniture and fixtures, its wide, spacious and airy aisles, its perfect day and night illumination, its splendid organization and all its other appointments we do not deem necessary. The many who have accepted our invitation and have come and seen this truly modern, up-to-date mercantile place will spread the news of its splendor far and wide. Every loyal Duluthian will proudly point it out as an example of Duluth's progressive and enterprising spirit. The use of these columns from now on will be devoted to another mission, that is to calling your attention to the superb character of our wares and merchandise. This very superior store shall, at every and all times, offer for sale to its large number of patrons and the public merchandise which shall be of the highest standard of quality, no matter what the nature or price may be. One very material and important point we desire to impress upon you, and that is that the change of location has not only placed us in a position to serve you better but also to sell to you at lower prices than ever before. Several combinations of conditions bear us out in this very welcome announcement to you. A most favorable and low-priced, long-time lease of this building enables us to cut down this one usually large item of expense. The concentration of the many and more diversified departments to be found under this one roof will swell the volume of business as it has already well started in to do, and all this means a lowering of running expenses and, while our prices in the past were always as low as the lowest legitimate prices asked anywhere, yet we predict from all late indications that we can promise Duluth's people to supply the best merchandise at less prices than any other house will be able to sell them. Permit us now to call your attention to what we have to offer you in some of the various departments. With Easter but three days off what woman, man or child is not possessed of the desire to be attired in the most beautiful raiment for this great festival occasion, just as Dame Nature herself dons her very best. We have that here and are prepared to supply your every need.

IT WOULD COST MORE
Expense of Paving Superior Street With Stone More Than Asphalt.
MAKES AN ESTIMATE
Engineer McGilvray For First Time Figures the Cost of Using Stone.

It would cost more than $2500 more to pave Superior street with sandstone than it would with asphalt. This morning City Engineer McGilvray completed the first estimate that has ever been made for paving the street with sandstone. Last September he made an estimate for paving with vitrified brick and asphalt, and was recently requested by the council to make a similar estimate on the product of the Kettle River quarries. He has now completed his estimate for paving with sandstone, and the cost of sandstone, with the surface, would be $45,000. On the estimate for vitrified brick, made last September, the cost was $20,000. The difference, $25,000, is the extra cost of sandstone, but since that time the price of sandstone has increased in price very materially.

With the passing of the new charter the street paving problem may be less troublesome to city officials. The improvement had practically been given up owing to a lack of funds in the city treasury available for working fund until the assessments against the property improved could be collected. No longer will the city be forced to undertake the contract and run the risk of collecting the assessments. The charter gives the city authority to lease lands and to make improvements. This was designed especially for just such emergencies, and the money would be furnished from this fund for working purposes, and would, under the charter, have to be paid back when the assessments were collected.

With the chances for the paving much improved by the new charter, and Mr. McGilvray's figures, submitted this morning, there is a little paving talk about the city hall today, and sandstone still seems to be in the majority. Mr. McGilvray's figures for paving seven blocks of Superior street with Kettle River sandstone would be $45,000. The cost of paving with asphalt would be $20,000. The difference, $25,000, is the extra cost of sandstone, but since that time the price of sandstone has increased in price very materially.

"MY OWN SELF AGAIN."
 Mrs. Gates Writes to Mrs. Pinkham, Follows Her Advice and is Made Well.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:--For nearly two and one-half years I have been in feeble health. After my little child came, it seemed I could not get my strength again. I have chills and the severest pains in my limbs and top of head and am almost insensible at times. I also have a pain just to the right of breast bone, as severe at times that I cannot lie on my right side. Please write me what you think of my case." Mrs. Clara Gates, April 25, 1898.

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as advised and now send you a letter for publication. For several years I was in such wretched health that I could hardly walk across the floor, was so feeble. Several of our best physicians attended me, but failed to help. I concluded to write to you for advice. In a few days I received such a kind, motherly letter. I followed your instructions and am my 'old self' again. Was greatly benefited before I had used one bottle. May God bless you for what you are doing for suffering women." Mrs. Clara Gates, April 25, 1898.

CHARTER ADOPTED
Judge Dibel So Holds in His Ruling on the Contest Case.
THROWS OUT BLANKS
He Decides That They Do Not Count as Ballots Cast.

Judge Dibel holds that the new city charter submitted to the voters of the city of Duluth at the late municipal election was carried. His decision to that effect was filed this morning in the office of the clerk of district court, and according to his ruling, the charter is carried by three votes. On the face of the returns the charter was lost by thirteen votes.

In order to declare the charter carried it was necessary for the court to find that the charter required only four-sevenths of the vote cast at the election, or to throw out of consideration some of the blank and doubtful ballots. The latter course was taken, Judge Dibel holding that the intention of the law is to require that the charter should get enough affirmative votes to make a majority of the total vote cast. He rules out twenty-six ballots on the ground that they were not votes in a legal sense. Fifteen of these were blank as to the charter, but an attempt had been made to vote for some of the candidates on the ticket. The court having ruled that these attempts were unfruitful, the results of the election were reduced to the level of blank ballots according to Judge Dibel's theory. There are six wholly blank ballots, and five identified ballots that are thrown out under the same rule.

There were 676 ballots in the boxes, of which nine were spoiled and were ruled out by the court. The balance of the returns were 386 votes for and 140 against the charter. Seventy-eight ballots, including the nine spoiled ballots, were referred to the court. Six votes for the charter and two against it were among the disputed ballots, leaving 280 undisputed ballots for and 148 against the charter. Of the disputed ballots the court ruled nineteen for the charter and nine against it, making the vote 299 in the affirmative and 157 in the negative. As stated above, he rules out of the count twenty-six ballots, leaving 273 in the affirmative and 131 in the negative. The court then rules that the charter is carried by a majority of the total vote cast.

HOLD ATTEMPT.
 Chicago, April 12.--Three masked men entered the offices of the Phoenix Brewing company at an early hour today, bound with swords the watchman, carried him into the engine room, and threw him down close to the boilers. They then went to work on the big office safe, supposed to contain a large sum of money. Before completing their work, however, they became alarmed and fled. The watchman, rescued, was nearly dead from the heat of the boilers.

EASTER being but two days away, we fancy everyone is giving serious thought to their needs, that are so imperative under the customs of that joyous day. The rule that every person should appear in new attire is becoming more established every year. The Easter Society and Easter Custom command that all come forth in new attire that has the approval of fashion. Naturally under the conditions this establishment, which for the last twenty years furnished correct and reliable apparel for Men, Youths and Boys, should be looked to for the latest that fashion demands in Clothing, Hosiery, Hats and Shoes.

Easter Clothing For Men.

Never in the past ten years have we had such a complete assortment of Suits, Light Overcoats and Trousers for Men as we have this Spring. Our Clothes have always been the equal of the custom tailored sort, but this season's assortment excels in beauty of design and exquisite tailoring made to measure garments. Though our prices be half those asked by merchant tailors, the quality is exactly the same. To make better clothing than ours is impossible, and its equal cannot be found in the city.

Overcoats—Made in larger variety of fabric than heretofore, and every sort is here; short, medium and long. Overcoats at $8 to $20.

These are the two extremes in prices; you can guess what lies between.

The Suits embrace extremely new fabrics, some of which are exclusive with us, and are ahead of the swell merchant tailors. Guaranteed blue serges, gray club checks and fine stripes in worsteds, swell rough Scotch goods, and many other stylish fabrics, cut in all the latest and correct styles. Prices range from $8.00 to $25.00.

Easter Clothing For Boys.

Our Boys' Clothing is made as well as the Men's. We set the same high standard for the makers of each, that's why our Boys' Clothing is so satisfactory and reliable; then, too, the cloths are all tested before they are cut. For Easter we have all the newest novelties and styles in the correct fabrics.

Commencing with the big boys, youths or young men, as you will, we have a complete stock of stylish Clothing to fit boys from 15 to 19 years. They are all Suits that would do credit to any merchant tailor. Prices, $4.95 to $15.

Unable to Divine Motive of Boers' Move on Sundays River.

PLAY WAITING GAME

Boers Seem Content With Blocking Relief Column's Approach to Wepener.

New York, April 13.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: The motive for the Boer reconnaissance force on Sundays river on two successive days is not yet known here. One dispatch stated that raiding parties are advancing toward Wepener from Helpmakaar to the south and toward Dewood to the west of Ladysmith. If these raids had been planned, the attack upon Clerx's camp was an effective method of diverting attention from them. Probably the Boers have become restless during the five weeks of occupation, and it was necessary for their commander to find employment for them, and also inspire the burghers at Pretoria by sending bulletins of victory like those which are telegraphed from the Boer side.

No definite results have been accomplished by this spasm of Boer activity. There was a confusion in the fire followed by artillery practice for several hours on Wednesday, but the Boer attack was neither vigorous nor persistent. There was a change of tactics, since the Boer positions were disclosed, whereas they have been hitherto concealed. This was not important, since the Boers occupied a temporary line of defense with a permanent one further back of much greater strength.

The Boer operations in the southern eastern corner of the Orange river are equally indecisive. The commando on the north bank of the Orange river is in contact with blocking force of a relief column to Wepener and is not attacking Alwal North.

Wepener still holds out against an investment by a superior force. Gen. Kitchener was evidently satisfied before leaving Alwal North that the situation was not serious and that Gen. Brabant was equal to the emergency. The commando was heavy at Wepener on Wednesday, but the Boers did not gain ground.

From Rhodesia there is no confirmation of the Boer rumor of a death of Baden-Powell, but there is a heavy list of casualties from Col. Plimmer's unsuccessful fight six miles north of Mafeking on the last day of the attack.

Boer commando is moving through Basutoland. This is said to be a clever ploy to draw the British away from Wepener. About 200 Boers are reported to be in the new foreign legion in Pretoria, including some Boers in uniform. Several Boer recruits left here for Pretoria today, including a French captain, brother of the late Gen. de Villebois-Mareuil.

BOERS ARE PATROLLING.

Rouxville Commando on the Watch Near Alwal North.

Alwal North, April 12.—A detachment of 200 of the Rouxville commando is patrolling in this direction. Many of the men go to their farms at night and rejoin the detachment in the morning. The Rouxville commando numbers 700. A large body of Boers is closely watching events from the border. The weather is too cloudy to permit helicopter flying.

It is reported that the Boers lost heavily in the recent fighting at Alwal North. There is much weeping among the women and an urgent message for the Free State artillery, who took a very active part in the fight.

WAS NOT REICHMAN.

Consul Hay Says the Attache Did Not Fight.

Pretoria, Wednesday, April 11.—United States Consul Hay, in an interview with the press, said that the report that Capt. Reichman, the United States military attaché, participated in the fight near Sannas post is absolutely false. Capt. Reichman, it is said, was recalled from the scene of the fight on the wounded Dutch military attaché, Lieut. Nix, who has since died.

It is not probable that there will be any reduction in the beer tax.

PORTER QUILTS.

Secretary to the President Resigns and Is Succeeded By Cortelyou.

Washington, April 12.—Owing to continued ill health, Hon. John Addison Porter, secretary to the president, has tendered his resignation and the president has accepted it, to take effect May 1 next.

George B. Cortelyou, of New York, the present assistant secretary to the president, has been appointed to his place.

Mr. Porter's health was seriously impaired about a year ago by a severe attack of illness, since then he has been at times relieved somewhat from the onerous duties of his office, but failing to regain his health and believing that complete separation from official duties is essential to his speedy and permanent recovery, the secretary has been constrained to tender his resignation, which the president has accepted.

His physician craves complete rest and change that he may have every facility for rapid improvement.

Mr. Cortelyou was born in New York, July 26, 1854, and is one of the oldest families. His grandfather, Peter Cortelyou, was, for forty years, a member of the city council.

His father, George B. Cortelyou, Jr., was a prominent figure in New York business and social circles a generation ago.

In 1884 he was appointed confidential stenographer in the United States appraiser's office at New York, but resigned upon the change of administration in March, 1885.

He was appointed private secretary to the postoffice inspector in charge at New York, and two years later became private secretary to Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Hathorne. He resigned in March, 1895, but was reappointed stenographer.

He was appointed secretary of the president, and a few months later executive clerk to Mr. McKinley. He was made assistant secretary to the president in 1898.

TO DISSOLVE THE EIGHTH.

The Passing of the Last Spanish War Corps.

New York, April 12.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: Orders will be issued by Secretary Root this week formally directing the dissolution of the Eighth army corps. This action will reduce the number of army corps organized to three.

The Eighth army corps has been in existence since the civil war. It has been merged into the division of the Philippines with four departments, presided over by general officers.

Brig. Gen. Theodore Schwan will return home from Manila with Gen. Oiler, who is not in the interest of his health the war department has decided to advise to grant his request for permanent leave.

BILLS IN CONGRESS.

Washington, April 12.—Representative Stevens, of Minnesota, has introduced a bill granting additional homestead rights to those serving in the war with Spain or during the occupation of Cuba, Porto Rico or the Philippines.

A bill was introduced in the senate yesterday by Mr. McMillan authorizing a survey of the great lakes by the secretary of war, and appropriating $50,000 for the purpose.

BIG MINING COMPANY.

Spokane, Wash., April 12.—The formation of a big mining company, incorporated in the state of Washington, was announced today. The company is to be known as the King Solomon Mining company, headed by James H. King, of Spokane. It has been capitalized for $2,000,000 and is to have a half interest in the Lake Kootenay, near Astoria, B. C.

FARRAGUT'S CRUISE.

San Francisco, April 12.—It is announced that the torpedo boat destroyer Farragut will make a run down the coast to San Diego. It will be the Farragut's first men forward with great interest to the trip.

DISABLED TRANSPORT IN.

San Francisco, April 12.—The British transport Mount Lebanon, previously reported to be in the harbor here, has arrived. The British transport, which arrived yesterday, was disabled by the typhoon March 3, for Table Bay.

REDUCING THE TAXES

Ways and Means Committee In Favor of Paring War Taxes.

BEER TAX TO STAND REPLY IS ADVERSE

But Proprietary and Documentary Stamp Taxes to Be Abolished.

New York, April 12.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: Serious consideration was given by Republican members of the committee on ways and means to the question of reducing the war revenue taxes. Representatives of the drugists, who advocate repeal of the apothecary stamps, will appear before the committee next Tuesday, and will submit an argument to show why these taxes ought to be abolished. A delegation of brewers will be heard in support of the proposition to reduce the tax on beer to $1 a barrel, the rate before the war tax was imposed. After these hearings the committee will take up the whole question of tax reduction.

It is possible the whole subject may go on until the next session of congress, or that a bill may be put through the house and sent to the senate to be acted on in the next session. There is little doubt of the repeal of all the proprietary stamp taxes, and the most objectionable documentary taxes.

It is not probable that there will be any reduction in the beer tax.

COALING STATION

Uncle Sam Wants to Establish One at Almerante Bay, Colombia.

BEER TAX TO STAND REPLY IS ADVERSE

But Proprietary and Documentary Stamp Taxes to Be Abolished.

New York, April 12.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: Beside instituting negotiations to secure the transfer to the United States of the Danish West Indies and Chatham Island, of the Gallapagos group, the United States has been quietly endeavoring to obtain the consent of Colombia to the establishment of a coaling station in Almerante bay, in the Boca del Toro, near Chiriqui lazon, Colombia.

The propositions have not been received with favor by the Colombian government. The reply of Colombia announced that there are "insuperable obstacles" in the way of acquisition by this government of a site at the point designated, but while the Colombian government will not part with land on Almerante bay, it has indicated that it is willing to dispose of Old Providence and St. Andrews island, off the coast of Nicaragua, which, however, are not suitable for naval purposes.

The authorities are not disheartened at the result of negotiations, as Almerante bay contains territory claimed by both Colombia and Costa Rica.

PORTER QUILTS.

Secretary to the President Resigns and Is Succeeded By Cortelyou.

Washington, April 12.—Owing to continued ill health, Hon. John Addison Porter, secretary to the president, has tendered his resignation and the president has accepted it, to take effect May 1 next.

George B. Cortelyou, of New York, the present assistant secretary to the president, has been appointed to his place.

Mr. Porter's health was seriously impaired about a year ago by a severe attack of illness, since then he has been at times relieved somewhat from the onerous duties of his office, but failing to regain his health and believing that complete separation from official duties is essential to his speedy and permanent recovery, the secretary has been constrained to tender his resignation, which the president has accepted.

His physician craves complete rest and change that he may have every facility for rapid improvement.

Mr. Cortelyou was born in New York, July 26, 1854, and is one of the oldest families. His grandfather, Peter Cortelyou, was, for forty years, a member of the city council.

His father, George B. Cortelyou, Jr., was a prominent figure in New York business and social circles a generation ago.

In 1884 he was appointed confidential stenographer in the United States appraiser's office at New York, but resigned upon the change of administration in March, 1885.

He was appointed private secretary to the postoffice inspector in charge at New York, and two years later became private secretary to Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Hathorne. He resigned in March, 1895, but was reappointed stenographer.

He was appointed secretary of the president, and a few months later executive clerk to Mr. McKinley. He was made assistant secretary to the president in 1898.

REMAINS IN THE RACE

Dewey Given Offers of Support That Afford Him Some Hope.

BEER TAX TO STAND REPLY IS ADVERSE

But Proprietary and Documentary Stamp Taxes to Be Abolished.

New York, April 12.—(Special to the Herald.)—There is a general impression around this morning that the dinner given by John R. McLean last night, at which Dewey and ex-Congressman Belmont were present, will have an important bearing upon the course of the admiral in the Democratic convention. Belmont has come out for Dewey for the presidency, just as Representative Levy did the day before yesterday. There is no doubt that strenuous efforts will be made by the gold Democrats and others opposed to Bryan as leader to prevent the Nebraska plan from securing the nomination at Kansas City. Negotiations that are pending will probably decide the policy to be adopted so far as Dewey's candidacy is concerned.

There have been a number of men, more or less prominent, in Washington during the past few days who have declared that Dewey can be nominated and elected. It is known that admiral's announcement of his candidacy did not meet the cordial response he expected, and he certainly had made up his mind to withdraw, and it was his intention to formally announce the fact. The developments of the last twenty-four hours, however, may have persuaded him to postpone his withdrawal for some time to come and remain in the race until the convention meets.

A CLOSER ALLIANCE

Federation of the British Empire to Be Issue in Canada.

LIBERALS FAVOR IT

May Go Before People With Plan For Representation In London.

Ottawa, April 12.—Imperial federation and preferential trade will be the two main issues on which the forthcoming elections in Canada will be fought.

There are many other questions before the electorate, but the government has chosen to give battle on these two questions and the opposition will have to accept the challenge on these points. It will assail the government on the score of violated pledges in reference to the tariff relations with the United States, the confederation of Newfoundland with the Dominion, increased expenditure, maladministration of the Yukon and hesitancy and delay in sending contingents to South Africa, with many other minor delinquencies, but the government has shown good generalship in forcing these two questions to the front, and selecting advanced ground thereon. Recognizing that it has lost heavily in the country on the contingent matter, it will endeavor to take advantage of the tide in favor of closer union with the empire and the popularity of its preference in favor of British goods.

It is unusual strange to see the party which was denounced and defeated in 1891 on account of the alleged desirability of its policy of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States, which in commercially and politically is its neighbor, it was held, would inevitably lead to its political subjugation also, going into the election to win on a pro-British policy. In doing this it shrewdly places the Conservative party, which so long waved the "tail flag," in the appearance at least of taking an anti-British attitude. This is one of the striking anomalies of politics in this country.

The phantom dream of imperial federation was first projected into the political arena by J. Israel Davis, minister of public works, a French-Canadian member of the cabinet, who opposed Canadian sending a contingent until parliament had been consulted. He announced to a French-Canadian audience near Montreal one Sunday in October last, just after the contingent had been decided on, that he had secured a clause in the order of the day creating the regiment that this action was not to be a precedent. He was quite willing to concede the present action to the overwhelming public sentiment of the country, but, if ever Canada was to be held bound to share in the empire's wars, then she must have a proportionate vote in the empire's councils to declare the war or prevent it. He was vigorously assailed for his un-British attitude, from one end of the country to the other, and as a minister he was open to assault, for the cabinet is considered to be unanimous on all its actions, and, if a member disapproves, his only course is to resign. He divulged a cabinet secret, the action of his colleagues, but Mr. Davis is superior to confessions. However, it is probable that the leader of the opposition, Sir Charles Tupper, recently announced his intention to make it plain that Canada was in no way bound to do as the empire pleased, but in its spontaneity, England, in other words, got by sentiment, what she could not demand as a right.

The value of this lies in the fact that the opposition, backed by the opinion of the country, forced the government to realize that Canada cannot be held to act in a similar way without a voice in the making of the war.

Later on, just before the opening of the session, Mr. Tarte went to Toronto, where the government had been offering assistance, and came out flatfooted for a federation of the empire. He was bitterly assailed in the house for his conduct and words in regard to the contingent, but more especially for the views of his paper, La Patrie of Montreal, and in the course of a brilliant reply he declared: "I am the first French Canadian who became an imperial federationist, and I became such because I do not desire to change our present political position."

What objection could there be to the prime minister of this great colony having a right to sit in the imperial council? My French Canadian countrymen will perhaps say to me: "You are going very far; you are going to lighten the bonds that unite us to England. Sir, we are a part of this great British empire, and neither the French Canadians nor the English Canadians have any other destiny than to remain a part of the empire. Suppose the premier of the country had a right to sit in the imperial council, what harm could it do this country? Would not his voice have a great deal of influence and importance?" A man may be mistaken, but my opinion is that the colonies cannot possibly be asked to take part in imperial affairs without having a voice in those councils. I do not suppose that a man should not be accused of disloyalty because he holds these views.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier later gave more eloquent if more indefinite expression to similar views. In fact, though the subject is on every person's tongue just now, no one is prepared to put forth a definite scheme. There are many who hold that it is better to allow matters to drift, recognizing that British institutions are growing from currents of thought and action, and that an unwritten alliance such as now exists or has existed for some time and was only stirred into actual manifestation by the war, is better than a hard and fast treaty of constitution. The occasion will call for the birth of a scheme. The Liberal party, however, will follow the policy of taking occasion to the front, and the Conservative party, from the Canadian electorate a verdict in favor of Canada's representation in the empire's affairs.

"There is one thing certain," said a statesman politician, who does not air his views often in the house, "and that is that federation of the empire must go with home rule for Ireland. Fancy a hundred Canadian members in the imperial house while the question of muzzling dissent in the British parliament is being discussed. Any scheme of an imperial parliament must contain it. I have no fear of home rule being a separatist movement, nor do I believe that the vast majority of the Canadian people desire it. It is quite the contrary. There were those who held that when Canada was given virtual independence, the matters of government it implied ultimate separation, and yet by this means Canada was bound to the empire forever."

The fact of the queen in dealing with the Irish at the present juncture has produced an impression on classes in Canada. "The queen's tactful acts," said an Irishman and a home ruler, "have done much to remove the rancor and irreconcilability of the position. I confess frankly it has been so in my case, and it ought to enable the whole question to be grappled with calmly, at least. This is half way to their acceptance. The Irish of Canada are loyal and other classes are because they are free, and they would become so in time in Ireland."

This is a solitary expression of opinion, but it sets forth views which are not by any means rare in Canada. From Canada's experience with the British empire, it is fair to say that once South Africa is federated into one great whole as a part of the empire, the British empire will become a reality, though not Englishmen, Great Britain, it is contended, cannot hold them by the sword, but as she has done in all her white dominions by their own consent by making them British citizens, once they have proved their loyalty, as was done in the case of the French Canadians. All these considerations enter into the idea of a federation of the British empire, but it is felt here that to make the project a success the federation of Ireland is of prime importance.

Another thing seems beyond peradventure, and that is that if such a scheme implies any impairment of the right of self-determination of the people of the British empire, it will not meet with favor. Sir Charles Tupper, leader of the opposition, realizes this, and though he has always been an advocate of imperial union, on the lines of mutual trade advantage, he has come out against the "imperial project," and has declared it as impossible and impracticable.

"Under such a scheme Canada would have only one-seventh of the members at Westminster," he says, "and to maintain the empire as it is, and to maintain the British empire, it would be $10,000,000 annually, which is out of the question. Every man who is a Conservative or Liberal, knows that the moment this policy is adopted you remove the government of Canada, not as independent and as free as air, and place it in the hands of a few men, who, under the control of a parliament in London, in which you and I are not represented and taxed according to population."

The Liberals, however, will not. It is thought, advocate any scheme that would work out in detail in this way. They will continue to advocate to any possible and take advantage, if possible, of the sentiment of larger share in the share in the privileges and responsibilities of the empire. The drift of events and opinion undoubtedly sets in that direction, and it is not probable that any scheme proposed would go as far as Sir Charles Tupper anticipates.

The question of mutual trade benefits is a cognate one to this, and will be mixed up with it in the discussion. By a clever parliamentary ruse the government placed the opposition on record as opposed to the preference which a few days later was increased to 33-1-3 per cent. The opposition did not, however, pledge itself to repeal the preference to British goods, but they squarely declare that Canada should obtain a gold pro quo. They believe in concession for concession, and will assail the government for giving away benefits to grain shippers at the latest.

The session is being dragged out day by day on these and other questions, both parties preparing for a general election, which is regarded as inevitable next autumn at the latest.

IRON ORE TRADE

Ore Shipments May Begin Within a Week or Ten Days.

Cleveland, April 12.—The Iron Trade Review says: Word from upper lake ports is that shipments of ore from the mines to the docks have been in progress the past week, and that with a continuance of present conditions, the formation of a blockade, may have a later opening than has been hoped for. From Lake Erie docks the movement of ore to furnaces has been very active and May 1 will find some of them with unexceptionably small stocks. It is evident that here and there a blockade would be embarrassed by a late opening of navigation, some, at least, would be in a position to handle the coming season's changes, being so fully provided with tonnage. Coal and grain shipments are certain of having to pay high rates, but quite uncertain as to the supply of tonnage or the height to which rates may go. Coal charters have been made at 70 cents and 75 cents to Milwaukee and Chicago, respectively. It is evident that the important interest which took up a large tonnage beyond its requirements at the close of last season, will have much to say about wild rates. The price of coal, Lake Erie dock, has been fixed at $2.75, an advance of 50 cents over last season.

ALL IS LOVELY. (Cincinnati, April 12.—The rumor of an anticipated strike today on the Queen & Crescent route was brought to the attention of General Manager Murray of the road, and he promptly stated that no sort of limitation of a strike has been made by any class of their employees. "We are a happy family," said he, "and I have no grievances to saddle me. I doubt the rumor arose from the confusion of names. Our road being known as the Cincinnati Southern, has been confounded with the Southern Railway, where the photographs were reported yesterday to have been ordered to strike. There is no shadow of trouble on the Queen & Crescent."

CLARK WITHDRAWS. Springfield, Ill., April 12.—A Mattson special to the Register says: Sen. Homer S. Clark, late department commissioner, has withdrawn his name for the Republican nomination for governor. Clark has been mentioned by the date for the Republican nomination for congress for the Nineteenth district, because of his position as a member of the legislature of his home county.

Charming Hats....for Easter.

Spurred on by the splendid encouragement you are giving, our milliners seem to be planning better than ever. It is such inspiration as orator or actor draws from a big and responsive audience. Yes, there'll be tired heads and tired hands, but rest comes easily to those who tire in pleasing.

It's the biggest Easter Millinery Business we ever knew—it's the best for you; and, if for you, for us as well.

We have made new standards of value; we let you bid good-bye to extravagance whenever you please.

There are $20 and $30 Hats—and some for more. Exquisite; demanded, on occasion. But the millinery business of the year is with Chick and Stylish Headwear at $10 and $5.

The season's styles are becoming almost picturesque. The plain face brightens, and the beautiful face is at its best, with the things the modistes have given for spring. There are hosts of shapes, but the French capeline is maybe best of all. The trimming is mostly built upon the brim—flowers, especially roses—and the hat is worn far enough back to suit the pompadour style of hair dressing. Another popular effect is a chic affair made either of chiffon and heron aigrettes or of braid with bouquet of roses and bows of ribbon.

The sailor hat, trimmed with Persian handkerchief or with bunches of violets, is good.

Walking Hats—the term for every sort that needs little or no trimming—95c to $9.00.

Pretty Hats for Children, $2.50, $2.95 and $3.50

And any little girl, whom you can feel safe in letting take the journey alone, can buy as safely as you—for with little folks and the most experienced shopper we have such a liberal method of exchange that buying is not only safe, but pleasant. Suppose the hat you select doesn't seem to suit you perfectly after it's home. Please bring it back. We haven't made the busiest millinery store in town by being narrow. Style: satisfaction: fairness of price—but style, first of all.

Your Easter Gloves are now ready.

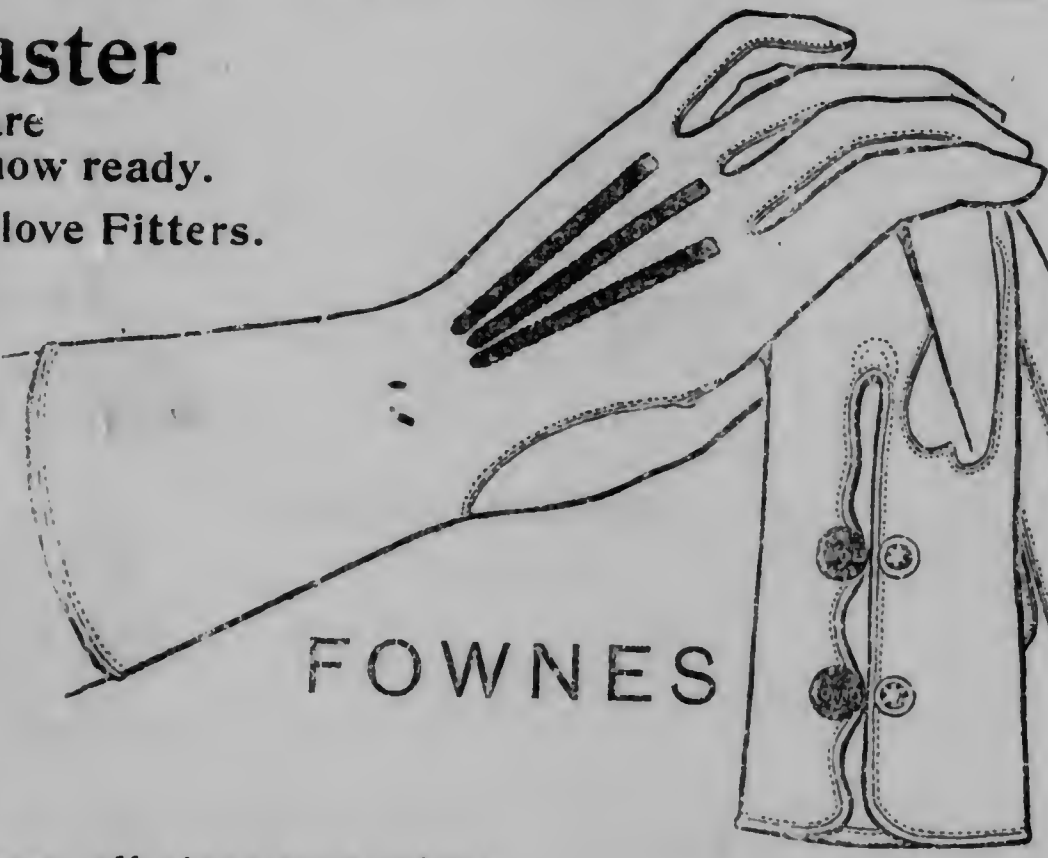

Extra Glove Fitters.

Fownes' "La Tosca," all sizes and colors $2.00

Fownes' "Dagmar," any size and color $1.50

The Crespi, any size and color $1.00

"Reynier" Gloves, all sizes and colors.

Over Five Hundred Man-Tailored Suits Ready for the Last Day Before Easter.....

Tomorrow will be a memorable one in Suit selling—if the past few day's sales are any indication—think of the selection such a stock offers you! And then bear in mind the class of goods! The Suit room has been almost overtaxing our facilities—why do we advertise at all? Because it is the fair thing to do. We undoubtedly are best serving many hundred women, else the present tidal wave of business wouldn't be coming to us. If we serve hundreds well, we shall serve other hundreds as well—and all better, because of the power of increasing business—and as the business grows it helps us to individualize. We get more Suits but we get fewer alike.

There is not a worthy new idea in man-tailored costumes, either domestic or foreign but finds expression here. Selection from such a stock insures the buyer a choice from an unrivaled exposition of the best and latest fashion, thoughts of two continents. Our constantly growing trade gives sufficient evidence that the women of Duluth and vicinity recognize the fact that this establishment is headquarters for tailor-made garments of every kind.

More Extra Servers—ready tomorrow—so's to have your Easter Suit home on time.

Eton Costumes of Good Cheviot, $10.00.

Costumes of Homespun, $12.00—

The Jacket is tight-fitting and neatly lined with serge. Skirts have box or inverted plait; perfectly shaped, and lined with good Peraline.

Eton Costumes of Venetian, $15.00—

One of the newest styles; open front Eton Jacket with rolling collar and serge-lined. Skirt has double inverted plait and is lined with Peraline. Cannot be equalled at the price.

Eton Costume of Homespun or Cheviot, $18.00—

The Eton Jackets are open front, with Silk reverses, and are lined with Taffetas. Skirt is nicely balanced and lined with good Peraline.

Costumes of Grey Striped Cloth, $35.00—

Lined throughout with Taffeta of high quality; jacket is tight fitting, finished with velvet collar; skirt has box plait—a rich and exclusive effect.

Eton Costumes of Tan Venetian, $20.00.

One of the noblest of Eton Jackets, dip front, lined with Taffetas. Skirt has box plait and is beautifully draped; a very desirable costume at an unusually low price.

An honorable distinction which we shall maintain by making this department even stronger and more authoritative every season. We offer fashionably made, substantial costumes as low as $10.00. The most elaborate one is $68.50, or separate skirt at $55 and Taffeta Jacket with real lace at $45.00, making one hundred dollars for both. Between these extremes are over one hundred distinct designs of which the following are fairly representative:

Costumes of Rich Cheviot, $25.00—This costume is lined throughout with heavy ruffling Taffetas. Your choice of front or tight-fitting jacket; skirt is box-plaited. Best $25.00 costume we know of.

Costumes of Venetian Cloth—Eton Jacket—open reverses and the new flare collar—new scalloped flare cuffs—skirt with three-quarter tunic effect over front—but does not hide the graceful hang of the back—beautifully embroidered all over with leaves and sprays of silk Soutache, and the Tunic Skirt—finished with silk fringe—lined throughout jacket and skirt with Sunset Silk—we have named the price $67.50, although the exact duplicate is bringing $100 at a prominent Sixth avenue establishment in New York. Nothing approaching the magnificence of this costume can be seen in this vicinity.

Grey Costume of French Broadcloth—Eton Jacket—collar and reverses, with a very new and jaunty vestee effect—collar and vesting of rich white Pann'e velvet and tailor stitched—skirt is made with an entirely new and artistic tucking. Jacket lined with rich Lavender Taffeta and drop skirt of Gray Taffeta. It is a copy from a French costume listed at $300. On display and sale at $55.

Easter Among the Silk Waists..

There's a feeling of Easter among the waists as well as among the hats. They're decked with light and flowers, but there's a bloom with bright colors and fresh styles, with the gorgeousness of the tulips and the simplicity of the violet. The Persian or handkerchief waists suggest a variegated tulip—rich in color, of distinctive style—$6.00. The Ribbon Waists with delicate lace insertion over silk are like the rose or violet; unassuming, sweetly pretty and delicate. Several colors—$12. Then there are Taffeta Waists, hemmed and tucked, with delicate lace or of delicate colors—all solids, and at moderate prices—$2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $4.00, up to $18.50.

Easter Novelties in Neckwear...

Our display is of the "exclusives," the rich, unusual effects which represent true style. Liberty silk, chiffon, mousseline and lace, alone or in combination, are the favored materials. White and cream are the accepted colors, but black and other colors are here, of course. As to designs, these are the distinct novelties: Fluffy black chiffon ruffs, with long ends, for street wear. Chiffon fronts, with applique of Russian lace. Tucked taffeta ties. Crepe scarfs with embroidered ends. Narrow velvet ties with fringed ends. Silk ties with embroidered ends. Long Persian Windsor ties. Regal Russian lace collars. Fichus, in chiffon, lace and net. Taffeta Silk Collars in all of the new shades, trimmed artistically with black velvet and steel buckles, 65c. Handsome Stock Collars in Taffeta Silk with stitched bows, several different colors, 65c. Taffeta Silk and double faced satin fringed ties in 3-inch width, 50c. We also display many Exclusive Novelties in Chiffon and Liberty Silk Bows. Nothing prettier or more convenient for Spring wear than these, as a neck wrap of some sort is always desirable. Good ones at 75c, but the real choice novelties start at $1.50 and then $2, $2.50 and up to $12.00.

MASONIC BANQUET

plunging of these great territories into our Union was without a jar or friction. It added proportional increase to our national strength and so it will ever be as long as the immortal principles of the Declaration of Independence shall endure of peoples of contiguous or adjacent territory who, hating tyranny, loving liberty and who are devoted to the spirit of Republican institutions. They will go to their place in the greater union by natural law of gravitation like planets circling around their central sun, or rather as the predestined parts, conceived in the wisdom of the Supreme Architect of the universe, pillars in the grand temple of liberty and free government on the earth.

"Where, shall we ask, among all men today is the greater citizenship? Is it in the land of nihilist and czar, or where reigns the doctrine of divine right of kings? Is it in the domain of class distinctions and hereditary caste? No, not there. It is found under the folds of the starry flag, in America, the land of the free and the home of the brave. It was said in days of old that to be a Roman was greater than to be a king, but to the ancients the Roman was a haughty conqueror. Not so with the American. His destiny is that of world champion of human liberty and the anchor and hope of the human race. We know that more than in expanse of territory the greater citizenship depends on individual and national character. "What constitutes a state? Not high-raised battlement or labored mound. Not cities proud with spires and turrets crown'd. Not bays and broad-armed ports, Where, laughing at the storm, rich navies ride. Not sturged and spangled courts, Where low-brow'd business waits perfume to pride. Not men—high minded men. With powers as far above dull brutes as heaven is above the ape. In forest, brake, or den, As beasts excel cold rocks and brambles full of den. Men, who their duties know, But know their rights, and, knowing, dare maintain."

The greater citizenship rests more on moral greatness than physical force. The life and teachings of the Nazarene proved stronger, more enduring, than the military grandeur of the Roman empire. That empire has passed away. The conquest of the Nazarene has just begun. The dreams of the greater citizenship are not of the glories of war, but of the triumphs of peace. Its model is the pure and lofty character of Washington and Lincoln, not the times-glittering and the triumphs of the world. The pure and lofty character of Washington and Lincoln, not the times-glittering and the triumphs of the world. The pure and lofty character of Washington and Lincoln, not the times-glittering and the triumphs of the world.

solution was one of self-defense, to keep the shackles from our limbs. Even the advance and ennobled. Let us have faith in our destiny as a nation, which means the destiny of mankind. Errors of the head have occurred, and will occur again, but these will soon be righted by the common sense and courage of the people. The heart of the American people is sound and loyal to its best traditions. Who dares to arrest the country will learn his error. They hate oppression, they love justice and fair play. The teachings of Washington, of Jefferson and Lincoln will never be forgotten by them, nor will they ever repudiate the immortal principles on which our government was founded. The grand phalanx of American Masonry, of whom Washington was one, bars the way to such degeneration. It forbids and prevents such treason. It stands firm and united, and will ever stand, for all that makes for the higher citizenship here and everywhere? Is it not the sworn foe of despotism? The arch enemy of bigotry and ignorance? Is it not the champion of civil and religious liberty throughout the world? The counselor and guide to lofty aspiration and noble living? As the great Statue of Liberty, enlightening the world, stands in the harbor of New York welcoming, with its teachings of freedom, the millions who seek our shores, so Masonry enlightens the minds of all who enter its lodges, with suggestions of loyalty and progress. As the Stars and Stripes is today the great emblem, suggesting hope and freedom to the oppressed of the world, so Masonry suggests to the mind more light and liberty from the bondage of low thoughts and low ideals of life. "We know it is a noble brotherhood, with its educated conscience, its intellectual, social and political power, it should and does make the strongest impression of its lofty aspirations on the current and future life of our country and the world, to the establishment and continuation of the greatest citizenship possible among men."

SIX CASES OF SMALLPOX.
Rome, April 12.—Inquiry into the outbreak of smallpox on board the steamer New England, of the Dominion line, which sailed from Boston Feb. 1 and which left Naples March 24 for Liverpool, after landing the bulk of the ex-cursists who had started on a tour of the Orient, shows the disease developed three weeks ago. There were six cases in all, but two of the persons attacked died.

COMMISSION FOR SURGEONS. Bill For Appointing Contract Surgeons to the Army.

Washington, April 12.—The secretary of war has forwarded to congress with his approval a draft of a bill prepared by Surgeon Gen. Sternberg providing for the appointment of contract surgeons who have rendered one year's faithful and satisfactory service in the army of the United States as assistant surgeons of volunteers with the rank of first lieutenant. The bill provides for such appointments after the usual examination as to physical and professional qualifications, and the officers so commissioned are to be subject to honorable discharge whenever their services are no longer required. The bill also provides for the promotion of such assistant surgeons to the rank of captain after two years' faithful and satisfactory service.

Gen. Sternberg has written a letter to the secretary of war urging the enactment of the proposed legislation during the present session of congress, both in the interests of the service and as a matter of justice to the large number of contract surgeons who are now in the service and upon whom to a large extent, he says, devolves the duty of caring for the sick of our armies in the United States and in Cuba, in Porto Rico, in Alaska and in the Philippines.

"The acting assistant surgeons now in the service," says Gen. Sternberg, "have been carefully selected and have all been given a two-year course of examination as to their physical and professional qualifications. They have all the responsibilities of commissioned officers and it is the natural ambition of every one of them who has rendered faithful service to obtain a commission from the president of the United States. Owing to the very small number of volunteer surgeons (thirty-four) authorized at present, but a very few have any prospect of being commissioned under existing laws. So far as pay is concerned, an acting assistant surgeon would be the loser when compared as an assistant surgeon of volunteers with the rank of first lieutenant, as he would receive but $133.33 per month, instead of $150, which is the compensation now allowed contract surgeons. But the bill submitted proposes to promote those who have been in active service for three years (one year as an acting assistant surgeon, and two years as an assistant surgeon, with the rank of first lieutenant) to the grade of captain if their services have been faithful and satisfactory."

BRISGAVIA AGROUND.
Philadelphia, April 12.—The steamer Brisgavia of the Hamburg-American line while passing down the Delaware river last night bound for Hamburg went aground near the lower end of Chester Island. Tugs were sent to her aid and it is expected she will be floated at the next high tide, after which an examination of her bottom will be made to ascertain if she has sustained any serious damage. This is the second accident to the Brisgavia within a short time. Several weeks ago while going down the river she struck a sunken obstruction. Her bottoms were badly damaged and she returned to this city and was placed in the dry dock at League Island navy yard. Repairs had just been completed and she had again started on her voyage when she went aground.

BOILERS EXPLODE.
Wheeling, W. Va., April 12.—Two boilers in the furnace department of the Riverside plant of the National Tube company exploded today, carrying the boilers 50 feet and destroying three buildings and boilers in the steel work and waterworks. Several workmen were injured, two seriously. Three thousand workmen will be thrown out of employment for ten days. The tube works were not affected. Loss about $50,000.

New Spring Costumes

Natty Frock From Robert's Famous Establishment That Is a Charming Specimen of Fashion's Latest Developments.

Fashionable Tailor-Mades Machine-Made Laces Will Very Light In Shade. Be Much Worn.

Paris, April 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Spring styles, especially such as appertain to that important spring costume, the "tailor-made," are now in full vogue, and prove as attractive to the eye by their variety of form and conception as they are remarkable for their careful finish. Cloths of all kinds and styles are again to the fore, and with them the stitchings and scrapings in the way of trimmings, to which these fine cloths lend themselves so readily. As to colors, the dull pastels have by no means supplanted the becoming tans, beiges and grays, which this season are lighter than ever in shade, bordering upon white or cream, and consequently hardly adapted for ordinary wear.

One of the natty frocks from Robert's famous establishment is a charming specimen of fashion's latest developments. It is made of fine satin cloth of a "suede" shade so light as to appear almost creamy in tint. The skirt is faultless in fit and hang, the upper part consisting of a circular yoke forming deep points at the sides and front and losing itself at the back under a single box-plate which hides the placket. The skirt portion flares gracefully.

fully and is attached to the yoke under a single row of strapings of the same cloth, stitched with silk, and the decoration is repeated at the hem of the skirt. The lining consists of deep cream-colored satin, according to the latest preferences of dressmakers, who claim that satin lining outwears three of taffeta, and that it conforms better with the fashionable designs. The jacket of suede cloth is exceedingly chic. In form it is short and adjusted to the figure at the back, while the fronts are elongated and open over a blouse of any preferred color or material. In this instance it is of crimped cream-colored mousseline de soie, with a high stock collar of the same and surrounded by a strip of real lace. Straps of cloth form the zig-zag trimming on the jacket, and the novel collar is of cream-colored satin, like the lining and the reverses, which elongate into a narrow strip along each side of the jacket, extending into a deep fitted border along the short basque. A novel finish is given to a capucine of the same cream-colored satin, covering the shoulders. The sleeves are tight to the arm and trimmed with angles of cloth strapings over the shoulders, while at the wrist they are closely adjusted by means of the buttons of dull gold. Deep strapped extend over the hand.

Lace gowns of those of net, have developed this season into a degree of beauty never before attained, and Parisian sellers have been experimenting in all kinds of odd effects in designing floral design outlined or embroidered in some contrasting shade, will be much worn during the summer, thus offering excellent chances to the home dressmaker. A dainty dinner gown made on similar lines to the one before described, has a foundation of light violet silk. The bodice and skirt are veiled with violet mousseline de soie, and the corsage decorations and tunic are of black silk. Nottingham silk lace, with a very rough design and coarse

Other color combinations are red and black, white and black, mauve and white, can be made equally stylish and becoming.

FOR EASTER BRIDES.
Ellen Osborn Announces It Will Be a Flower Season.

New York, April 12.—The Easter bride will be crowned with flowers.

We are to have blossom weddings—flower faces and fairy showers of spring bloom. For weeks the florists have been forcing early peach and apple buds to build pink and white bows for young happiness, and steamers have brought fragrant loads of Bermuda lilies to make fair and sweet the chance. Orange and myrtle buds have been ordered in such unusual quantities that their perfume will be oppressive in small rooms.

One of the loveliest wedding robes in preparation is a graceful dress of creamy white duchesse satin, wonderfully artistic and effective. In its simplicity, there is a yoke of delicate Honiton lace, there are delicate drapings, like a tiny bolero, caught upon the bosom by a spray of myrtle, and down the left side of the bodice creeps a vine-like embroidery of orange and myrtle leaves in white silk cord stitching. Nougats of myrtle and orange blossoms surrounded by roses of white ribbon are set here and there upon the skirt, and this is draped very slightly back on the left hip under leaf garlands straying down from the bodice. A very full veil of Brussels lace will be fixed with a small tiara of myrtle.

The bride's dress, in preparation at the same establishment are of ruffled white veiling, with lace fichus and black picture hats. Bouquets of orange tulips are to be carried.

At a home wedding, most of whose details have been arranged, the plan is to fill the house with daffodils.

The bride's dress, which is being adapted from Guineborough's portrait of the duchess of Cumberland, is of ivory crepe de chine, with transparent yoke and sleeves of point d'Alencon lace. The skirt is outlined and embroidered with silver, and there is to be a train of white satin richly worked in silver and having an applique design in silver gauze showing lilies with hearts entwined. The veil, which will be worn over the face, meshes, having the motif embroidered by an embroidery of silver thread and shaded violet chenille, interspersed with tiny silver spangles, and the long tight sleeves are of black silk tulle spangled with silver. The belt is of folded violet panne and over the bust is a huge bouquet of violets holding a long scarf of crimped violet mousseline de soie.

A Lentheric model of gray straw trimmed with a garland of assorted foliage and bows of deep pink mousseline de soie.

is comparatively short, reaching little below the waist, and is of exquisite Brussels lace. It will be fastened by a wreath of natural orange blossoms.

For what promises to be one of the stateliest weddings of the Easter season there is being made a princess robe of white satin, with tucked yoke of white muslin. Broad bands of flower-like Chantilly lace edge the bodice, merging in front, taper slightly to the waist, then expand gradually toward the hem, which they follow around on either side, outlining the train. The plain sleeves have lace cuffs; a spray of orange blossoms is placed in front of the left shoulder. The veil is long enough to hide the wearer, when cast back it falls over the entire length of the robe.

The bride's dresses of white cloth are made with exceedingly fitting coats of white panne.

The prettiest wedding dress that I have seen is also the cheapest. It is an accordion-plated white veiling, with a lace yoke and a sash arranged like a Swiss belt and fastening with a rosette and fringed ends.

For her going-away dress the Easter bride is choosing dove shades, mauve and gray, in every kind of material, with white trimmings and mixed embroideries. Or she is wearing reseda green or blue or heavier color.

A very beautiful dress, but one almost too conspicuous for its purpose, is of ivory cloth, with a graceful skirt laid in deep stitched plaits. The bodice is a bolero adorned with many lines of white stitching, and opening over a waistcoat of red and white spotted silk. There is a dark red silk cravat. The black picture hat is covered with plumes.

A more serviceable going-away dress is of smart reseda green cheviot. The simple short sleeves. Infinitesimal tucks, not wider than a cord, adorn the chemise and nightgown—handwork invariably.

The richest garments are decorated with birds, butterflies or flowers, in part embroidered upon the cloth and in part standing clear of it, with wings or leaves fluttering. The beauty of the workmanship is unquestionable, but the size of the laundry bills it involves makes it not all but prohibitive.

A very beautiful tea gown belonging to a large trossau in process of making is composed of rose-pink chiffon, lined with black velvet to form a long, straight empire robe. A fichu trimming of black Chantilly lace is drawn about the shoulders, fastening with a big bow over the bosom and again under the arm, where the largest eraser and a great deal of vapor was emitted from the lesser orifices. It was then announced that Astra seemed to be preparing for an eruption of lava, probably on the south or southwest slopes.

The expected eruption did not begin till the morning of July 19 last, when great volumes of smoke, with lava and sand, began to issue from the main crater, but after several days the activity gradually on its course, no volcano exceeds it in the violence of its outbursts. The eruptions between 1866 and 1870 when, according to Reclus, no less than a half million of partial eruptions were counted in five skirt is box plaited at the back, side plaited from the hips down, and appliqued in a delicate line pattern in black around the bottom. The jacket is like a long bolero, with collar and revers finished with the applique devices. It opens over a double vest, of which the outer portion is of old rose velvet embroidered in white and the inner of fainter old rose silk. The model is exceedingly smart and could be reproduced in other colors.

For an outside wrap to be taken on a wedding journey a long empire coat is useful, though a short Eton coat in black or in a color to match the skirt with which it will be worn, is a satisfactory addition to any bride's wardrobe.

The Easter bride's lingerie is something at which to marvel. In no other department of dress is the standard of elegance so high, the growing tendency to extravagance so apparent. Trouseaux grow year by year smaller; fastidious undergarments change so rapidly that the accumulation of a quantity becomes more and more undesirable, but the beauty of the materials employed and the delicacy and elaboration of the handwork that adorns them are nothing short of wonderful.

Fine laces, embroideries, dainty head-lugs, linen lawn, wash silk and raincoat, as fine and sheer as a dainty handkerchief enter into the composition of an outfit for one of the wealthy girls who will be married during Easter week. The skirts, both long and short, are cut to fit the hips smoothly, with a few stitched-down plaits in the back. The back seam is gored so as to give just the same sort of flare that is desirable on the outside skirt, for it is the essential feature of all modern underwear.

A wide flounce, sometimes straight and sometimes circular, forms the lower half of each skirt, and is trimmed in every conceivable fashion that lace and embroidery can assume. Two lace-trimmed flounces, five inches wide, falling one above the other, trim the lower edge of one garment, and the deep flounce over these is also finished with a lace-trimmed ruffle, above which are set bow knots of lace insertion.

There are low-necked nightgowns that are dreams of daintiness, with their elbow sleeves and lace ruffles about the hem. Nearly all of these are in empire designs, as are the chemise nightdresses for summer wear, with

Woman or Slave?

Which do you prefer to be? Why be a slave to the many ills which harass women when you can be free? Have you any of these symptoms?

Disordered kidneys are indicated by pains in the back, distress or fullness after eating, scanty or scalding urine, weakness and chills, pains in the limbs, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of vitality, swelling in limbs or body or both, and sediment in the urine.

Stop the awful strain on your system by taking MORROW'S

KID-NE-OIDS

Suffering humanity is constantly finding quick and sure relief by using this wonderful medicine. Mild cases are often cured in a week.

KID-NE-OIDS are yellow tablets and come packed in neat wooden boxes, enough for about two weeks' treatment. All drug stores sell them for 50c a box, six boxes, $2.50. Your druggist will tell you the truthful testimony of those who have been cured by KID-NE-OIDS in your own town.

Morrow's Liverlax cures constipation, biliousness, costiveness—they sell for 25c a box—at all drug stores. Mailed on receipt of price. Manufactured by John Morrow & Co., Chemists, Springfield, Ohio.

Mrs. W. S. Wakelin, 215 Fourth avenue west, says: "I was afflicted with backache, rheumatism, nervousness and sleeplessness for over two years; the doctors treated me but these ailments remained, until recently I was relieved by using Morrow's Kid-Ne-Oids." At all drug stores and Boyce's.

bage rosette of blue crepe de soie. A beautiful evening dress just finished for Miss Edith Morton and to be worn before her wedding is of white accordion-plated crepe de chine. The cut is very simple and graceful, giving full effect to the slender lines of her graceful figure. The slightly blousing waist is accented by a line of lace insertion carried about the neck, decollete, and a length of the same material forms along waist scarf which fastens under a puff rosette and then falls in long fringed ends.

For smart afternoon dresses the preference of the spring brides is likely to be for very light cloths, pale gray veilings and crepes. Very beautiful foulards in shadowy pastels of white and colored linen. For example, are shown, combined sometimes with shaped bands of glossy soft white linen slashed with rows of red silk form the yoke and collar of a novel red and white foulard.

A pale gray veiling is dotted with white spots in graduated sizes, the smaller being about the hips and lower part of the bodice. French knots on black velvet ribbon are used to trim such a costume.

ELLEN OSBORN.

DOINGS OF VOLCANOES.

Careful study of the behavior of volcanoes has enabled observers, in recent years, to predict with some degree of accuracy when a renewal of plutonic activity is impending. This was the case last summer when Mount Aetna for a few days attracted attention after seven years of almost complete quiescence. The last eruption had occurred in 1892, but in the autumn of 1898 blue flames began to emerge from the mouth of the largest crater and a great deal of vapor was emitted from the lesser orifices. It was then announced that Astra seemed to be preparing for an eruption of lava, probably on the south or southwest slopes.

The expected eruption did not begin till the morning of July 19 last, when great volumes of smoke, with lava and sand, began to issue from the main crater, but after several days the activity gradually on its course, no volcano exceeds it in the violence of its outbursts. The eruptions between 1866 and 1870 when, according to Reclus, no less than a half million of partial eruptions were counted in five years, drew spectators from all parts of the world, including some men of science, whose observations made a distinct addition to our knowledge of volcanic action. In that period the ashes were sometimes thrown to a height of 5000 feet, and the immense volume of scoriae more than doubled the size of the island of Nea Kammuni.

Old reliable Stromboli, on its island thirty miles west of the Italian province of Calabria, can always be counted on to present about the same kind and intensity of phenomena. The latest report says that seven craters are active, and that the volcano is "showing its normal explosive activity." Probably for ages no sailors have passed the island without witnessing an illumination of the summit of Stromboli. Every few minutes lava bubbles up in the crater, and the are heard and stones are tossed into the air. The spectacle, particularly at night, is pleasing, and the island olive groves gather their crop without fear that Stromboli will ever misuse them. It has its moments of irritation, however, and then the ashes may rise so high into the air as to be carried off to the coast of Calabria.

ONE ON BEVERIDGE.

During his recent trip to the Philippines Albert J. Beveridge, United States senator from Indiana, stopped at the Japanese port of Nagasaki. Mr. Beveridge is only 35 years old, and so young-looking that he might easily pass for a collegian of 25. He went ashore at Nagasaki for a few hours. No one in the place knew him, not even the few Americans there, and his coming had not been heralded. He walked about the town at his leisure and then dropped in to pay a visit to the United States consul, says Success. That gentleman had been victimized a few weeks before by a young American visitor, who claimed to be a son of Senator Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania, and borrowed $20. The consul had just learned that Senator Penrose had no son.

"Good morning, consul," exclaimed Mr. Beveridge, handing out his card. "I am Senator Beveridge of Indiana, and I have just dropped in to—"

"Look here, young man," interrupted the consul, "I am up to your little game, and you can't get a cent here. Do you understand?"

The senator, first astonished and then indignant, began to protest, but the ludicrous side of the matter appealed to him so strongly that he picked up his hat and went away laughing.

"Ha!" exclaimed the consul, "they can't fool me more than once. I suppose the next thing will be some round-faced beggar trying to palm himself off on me as President McKinley."

At the foot of the stairs, as luck would have it, an American officer recognized Mr. Beveridge. When the situation was explained the officer took the senator back to the consulate, and everything was made right a few hours later over an elaborate dinner.

Many members of an excursion party to the Orient had been left at Naples through the unexpected departure of the ship, the Albatross, which carried them from this port. The ship, which was to have been supplemented today by a cablegram from the Albatross, had been delayed. The smallpox had broken out among the excursionists who had been stranded.

From meager information now at hand, it seems that the steamship of the Albatross was infected with all the bugs and without previous notice. The ship was to have sailed for Liverpool, skipping Nice, which was in the itinerary of the excursion.

The Albatross was to have left the World from Boston says. It is known here that at least two and probably three of the excursionists of the party have died of smallpox. The known victims are the Rev. G. F. Love, pastor of the Unitarian church, and Miss Anne Sargent, of Winona, Minn. The Rev. Mr. Love's parents live in Winthrop, Conn. Besides these it is now thought probable that the Rev. Mr. Love's wife, daughter of a wealthy business man of Worcester, Mass., who died in Rome within a few days of her husband's death, also died of smallpox.

OREGON REPUBLICANS.
Portland, Ore., April 15.—The Republican state convention opened yesterday and nominated one justice of the supreme court, food and dairy commissioners, and a director of forestry and elected four delegates-at-large to the national convention. The convention adjourned at 12 o'clock. The platform of the present congress and the course of President McKinley's administration were the subjects of discussion. The national convention were not instructed.

Washington, April 15.—The senate committee on Indian affairs met yesterday heard arguments by Col. John S. Cooper, of Chicago, and Mrs. W. C. C. Cooper, of Minneapolis. MRS. DEWEY'S FAITH.
How It Is Subject to Certain Fluctuations.
Chicago, April 13.—The Record's Washington correspondent says:
It appears that Mrs. Dewey has been in the habit of changing her religion. She was born and brought up in the Presbyterian church and remained a member of that communion until after the death of her first husband, Gen. John Dewey. Then she joined the Episcopal church and belonged to St. John's parish, New York city. She was a Unitarian theosophist and joined a society for the study of occult science, until converted to Catholicism by the Rev. Father John J. Bellamy Storer, the wife of our ambassador to the Philippines, Mr. Keane, while the latter was director of the Catholic university at Washington. She was a member of the Episcopal church in St. Paul's Catholic church and was a member of the Unitarian church in New York. When the term for which she had rented her pew at St. Paul's church expired last year, she was called upon her and found that she was un-

THE TREATY SHELVED.

Hay-Paunotse Agreement Will Not Be Pushed This Session.

New York, April 10.—The special session of the senate at a meeting of the senate-at-large committee on foreign relations yesterday Mr. Morgan asked Mr. Davis, the chairman, whether or not the Hay-Paunotse treaty should be pushed at this session. Mr. Morgan said he had noticed various papers in the press which indicated that the majority had concluded to abandon the treaty for the time being.

Mr. Davis replied that Mr. Morgan was correctly informed. It was obvious that the treaty was not popular with the senate could be regarded as opposed to the public opinion.

Mr. Morgan said that being the case, he was under no further obligations to the people of the West. He expressed his regret that he intended to push the Nicaragua canal bill to a vote at the earliest possible moment.

CLARK AND CARTER.

Said to Be Talking of an Alliance in Montana.

Chicago, April 13.—A Washington special to the Times-Herald says: "The possibility of an alliance between Senators Clark and Carter for the control of the next Montana legislature, so that both of them may be re-elected, is being talked of by both. Clark is a Democrat and Carter a Republican, but the possibility of an alliance between political parties in Montana is nothing compared to the war between the Daily and the Montana Standard. The latter would form an alliance they can probably

This action was taken in the light of information in the possession of the authorities showing that Germany is taking a deep interest in the controversy.

TO CARRY MINNESOTA

Democratic Managers Are Hopeful of Sweeping This State in November.

LIND TO WIN EASILY

And There May Be an Anti-Republican Majority in Legislature.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, April 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The effort recently made by friends of former Senator Washburn, of Minnesota, to put him forward as a candidate for the vice presidency on the Republican ticket at Philadelphia is certain to fail. This action upon the part of the Republicans is largely due to the fact that Washburn is not considered anywhere a strong vote getter and further that the Republicans fear that the North Star state will go Democratic next November.

On account of the fact that the Republicans are so badly mixed up in Minnesota and in other West and Northwestern states, Senator Hanna, the present chairman of the Republican campaign committee does not deem it wise to hold out official inducements to Minnesota or any other of the West or Northwestern states. As I have heretofore telegraphed, with Washington, many think that Minnesota is certain to go Democratic next November. This means that this state will cast its electoral vote against President McKinley in February next. It means further, that the Democratic ticket headed by John Lind, the present governor of that state, will be re-elected by the fans of this year, will win at the polls very easily.

The Minnesota legislature further believe that the next legislature will be anti-Republican and if so, Governor Lind, as I have frequently stated in the past, will succeed Knute Nelson, senator from that state. The fight over the election of the senate Republican congressmen from Minnesota is to be very lively, to say the least. It is now considered doubtful whether all of these seven Republican congressmen will be able to secure re-nominations. It is thought that the Democrats, from the Seventh district, may fall by the wayside and that some other Republican may be popularly elected in that district. In the event, however, that Eddy is re-nominated, that means an easy matter for him to win at the polls.

In the Sixth Minnesota district the present representative, Page Morris, will be lucky if the Republicans nominate him to head the contest. He will probably be defeated. The fight over the election of the senate Republican congressmen from Minnesota is to be very lively, to say the least. It is now considered doubtful whether all of these seven Republican congressmen will be able to secure re-nominations. It is thought that the Democrats, from the Seventh district, may fall by the wayside and that some other Republican may be popularly elected in that district. A FARMERS' TRUST.

An International Combine to Reduce Wheat Output Planned.

Minneapolis, April 14.—All the farmers of the world in a zone of international wheat production, the Farmers' Association of the world, is planning to reduce the wheat output of the world to such an extent that the price of wheat will be raised to such a point that the farmers will be able to live on less than $1.00 per bushel.

The plan was conceived by those two men independently. Mr. Hanley is interested in dairy, and Mr. Hanley is interested in the Farmers' Elevator and various other undertakings. He has long believed that if the farmers would only come to an understanding as to limiting their production and agree to sell only what they could dispose of at a profit, their prices could be maintained. This is the plan.

While 20 per cent reduction in acreage is desired, Mr. Hanley points out that only 5 per cent can be secured. The world's wheat crop will be reduced about 125,000,000 bushels, which is, he says, enough to bring the price at Liverpool up to $1.00. He calls the effect of a restricted production the farmers are to hold their wheat for ninety days and are to market it at not less than $1 per bushel.

Following the Paris conference, it is hoped to have established a permanent international grain growers' association.

LOSS ON SHIPPERS.

Minneapolis, April 14.—The Interstate Butter and Egg Shippers' association of Minnesota, Iowa and Western Wisconsin, has decided that in the future small shippers and producers must stand the loss on spoiled eggs. This must stand the loss on spoiled eggs. This must stand the loss on spoiled eggs.

BLANCHARD ACQUITTED.

Medford, Wis., April 14.—The jury in the Blanchard murder trial brought in a verdict of not guilty. Blanchard was charged with having killed his wife at Elk Lake on Aug. 28.

KOREA DELIVERED.

Seoul, Korea, April 14.—By the terms of the recent agreement between Korea and Japan, the latter declares itself not to be a part of the United States. Korea is now a free state.

Jones will be defeated for re-election and that their successors will be either Silver Republicans, Democrats or fusionists. The same is said by these gentlemen, holds true with reference to the outcome in June of the election in the state of Oregon. Tongue and Moody, according to the views of these Democrats, will be succeeded either by Democrats or fusionists. In California, the claim is set up by the Democratic national campaign committee, that five out of the seven representatives put up for re-election this fall will be defeated.

The Republican national convention, to be held at Philadelphia in June, is to be attended by a woman's political club, which is at present engaged in promoting the interests of the Republican party throughout the country. The first information as to this association's plans was made public today in the following letter received by President J. Hampton Moore of the State League of Republican Clubs:

Washington, D. C., April 9.—Hon. Mr. Moore—Dear Sir: The Women's National Republican association of Washington is a body of women who advise together concerning the political work of women throughout the country, and who organize and help the organization of women's political clubs for political study and work; who understand the possibilities and limitations of party work and of co-operation with national and state committees, and who do whatever they can to serve the Republican party. The majority of these women are "aged in the wool Republicans." Our leader, that peerless woman, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, informs me that we are to have seats at Philadelphia, and I now write to ask if there is any similar club in that city who would be glad to entertain our club and former officers, number not exceeding twelve ladies, on that occasion. If so, will you kindly advise me as early as convenient? We are informed that our Democratic sisters are going in great numbers to Kansas City by invitation of residents of that city. Few but it will be the number of our party. Very respectfully,

MRS. SARLA E. DEAN.

The letter rather puzzled Mr. Moore. At first he was at his wits' end to know what to do about it. As far as can be learned there is not a similar organization in Philadelphia or in the state of Pennsylvania, but if the women go there for the convention, as their letter states they will, accommodations will be provided and they will receive every courtesy the local committee can extend.

Encouraging reports have been received from clubs from all over the country which desire to participate in the great torchlight parade to be held on the Monday evening preceding the day of the convention. President Moore has received word from the J. Edward Adkins Marching club, of Wilmington, Del., that it will take part in the parade with over 500 men. The Inevitable club, of Brooklyn, N. Y., will also enter the parade, 70 strong, with two bands of music. The Workmen's Tariff league, of Philadelphia, decided to parade its entire organization, and the W. J. Central Republican club, of the Thirteenth ward, also decided to take part in the demonstration.

The request of Chairman Marcus A. Hanna of the national committee to postpone the great parade for Monday to Wednesday evening will hardly be acceded to. All arrangements have been completed for Monday night's demonstration, and to bring about a postponement at this time would materially interfere with the details. President Moore of the Allied Clubs committee said that he would communicate shortly with Chairman Hanna and explain to him the impracticability of deferring the parade, and he said he thought the senator would see the feasibility of permitting the present arrangements to proceed.

Next Monday, April 16, will be a happy day for the children and grown-up folks of Washington. As has been the custom for many years, Easter Monday is associated with the rolling of eggs on the beautiful green lawns of the White House grounds and will be the means of making many hearts, both old and young, glad this year.

The scene in the staid grounds back of the executive mansion on Easter Monday is one which will be remembered by those who are eye-witnesses or participants in this old and much enjoyed custom. Here are gathered together the rich and poor, the old and young, the men and women, the bright and many-colored eggs rolling higher and higher down the picturesque hills and low mounds which break the monotony of the level, well-manicured lawns from a pleasing picture. Then, too, the Marine band furnishes excellent music for the children who, to enjoy this spring celebration.

If the day is warm and clear the many different colored costumes of the boys and girls seem to vie with Dame Nature's gardeners, the flowers as they come gaily dressed in their Easter suits, the majority of which are flower-like. This scene is one which delights both the old and young, and one of the most beautiful and happy of the year.

The grounds are quiet at about 10 o'clock in the morning, and long before the sun is up the children and children, especially, are on hand so that when the music is played and the boys and girls are outside of the pretty knoll down which they have rolled their eggs, the scene is one of the most beautiful and happy of the year.

With the famous Marine band playing music, the children and children, especially, are on hand so that when the music is played and the boys and girls are outside of the pretty knoll down which they have rolled their eggs, the scene is one of the most beautiful and happy of the year.

CLARK WILL FIGHT.

Not Resign.

Butte, Mont., April 14.—It is now certain that Senator Clark will not resign. The pressure from his Montana friends and legal advisers is in favor of continuing the contest. Senators Mason, Bacon and Hatfield, will make a fight on the floor of the senate, claiming that a two-thirds vote is necessary to unseat him. They claim that the report of the committee does not sustain the direct charge of bribery against him. They will expose the charges and plans of his enemies and he will doubtless make a speech in his defense. This body will prevent appointment by the governor and may lead to the election of two Republican senators, so a majority opposition to day is not expected. Senator Mason will conduct the fight for Clark.

"I was very weak and extremely nervous. For several months I used prescribed tonics to no avail. I declared the first dose of Paine's Celery Compound made me feel better, and was laughed at, but the Compound brought me the desired strength, and in the fall I returned to school."

"I am now in the Home Missionary Work among the Freedmen of the South. Never one year could I have finished without Paine's Celery Compound. At home we have a large family and use the Compound constantly in the Spring. We owe much to your medicine."

GLAD HAND FOR DEWEY

The Democrats Will Warmly Welcome the Admiral Into Their Ranks.

MAY SHY HIS CASTOR

On Condition That He Will Abide by the Convention's Choice.

Chicago, April 14.—Bryan Democrats have decided to welcome Admiral Dewey into the Democratic party. Such is the position officially outlined in today's issue of the Democratic press bulletin.

"We may accept the admiral's declaration of his political faith as indicating that he is with the Democratic party, at least on an overwhelming majority of the issues it has taken up," runs the article from the pen of Willis J. Abbott, chief of the Democratic literary bureau.

This is a most gratifying fact," the article continues, "it indicates that the Democratic party, after mature deliberation, deny to the admiral the nomination which it seeks. It may nevertheless count on his hearty support of its efforts to end the rule of McKinley and the Democratic party."

In commenting on the purport of his article, Mr. Abbott said: "We are naturally delighted at the prospect of such a distinguished acquisition to our ranks as Admiral Dewey; but of course we expect the admiral to play fair and accept the good old Democratic doctrine of abiding by the result of a honest Democratic convention."

NELLIE GETS DAMAGES.

Colorado, Springs, Col., April 14.—In the breach of promise suit brought by Miss Nellie Lewis against President Samuel Strong, of the Free College and other defendants, the jury has awarded the plaintiff $2000 damages. The plaintiff is a married woman, contract extending over seven years past. Miss Lewis is 25 years of age and has been a student at the college for several years. She is a native of Colorado.

BAIRD TRISTLING.

A commercial traveling man landed at Edinburgh, Scotland, one Saturday night, too late to get out of town for Sunday. The next day he found that there was actually no form of amusement in the whole city to assist him in passing away the day. He went to the proprietor of the hotel to see if he could suggest a way of passing the remainder of the day. The landlord took pity on the stranger, and took him to one of the rooms in the house in which a number of Scotchmen were playing a game called "Nap," which is a sort of modification of "seven-up." They were playing for a shilling a point, so this game was a pretty stiff one. The stranger got into the game, and played very cautiously, for he was quite sure that the players, or at least some of them, were cheating. One solemn-faced Scot was especially sure he caught cheating a number of times. He began whistling a part of some vagrant tune. The Scot who had been cheating arose from the table and threw down the cards.

"What's the matter?" the other players asked.

"I'm givin' awa'," the Scot answered, holding up the stranger's card. "I've got awa' w' men that whistles on the Sabbath."

First Amateur Ball Game Y. M. C. A. Grounds Being Next Saturday. Rapidly Put In Shape.

Baseball Magnates In the American League Figuring on the Relative Strength of the Different Teams.

Cold weather has been detrimental to ball practice and everything else in the line of athletics this week. However, the Y. M. C. A. candidates and the High school and Cragcroft tossers have been practicing between cold waves and the first game among the amateurs may be on next Saturday. The High schools want to meet the Y. M. C. A. nine on that date, but nothing definite has been decided. Cragcroft desires a date with the Y. M. C. A. the following Saturday, and Cragcroft and High school are likely to mix up on the diamond almost any day after noon after the teams are finally organized.

Work of putting the new Y. M. C. A. grounds in shape has been progressing slowly through the week.

Governor Lind says there will be no prize fighting in Minnesota, but he will call out the National Guard to prevent it. The cause for this statement was a rumor that McDonald, who had been told to have a fight at Newport, Minn.

Roy Patterson is doing good work in the practice games for Comiskey's American league team. On Wednesday he pitched a tie game against the University of Illinois, the score being 3 to 3 and the next day Illinois defeated the White Stockings by a score of 9 to 1 with Denzer in the box.

The annual meeting of the Duluth Curling club was held during the past week and the following officers elected: D. G. Cutler, president; C. A. Duncan, vice president; Alex. McFate, secretary; R. J. McLeod, treasurer and J. H. Smith, director. Notwithstanding the large expense of erecting the new building the various reports showed the club to be in good financial condition, and it was decided to increase the membership from 125 to 150, which will undoubtedly be good news to many that were unable to join last winter.

There is something new in the training paraphernalia for pugilists. It is the product of the overly-inventive brain of Kid McCoy. It is not punchable, cannot be writhed with, ridden or tossed. It is simply a big plate glass mirror, which he has placed in his quarters, and he looks at his face every few minutes every day, a la Sarah Bernhardt. The Hoosier says: "Some people think I have found the idea of mine, but I have found it to be a good thing. There is no man on earth who can point out the faults of his face better than that loser can himself. When I put up my guard before the mirror I study the face and the angles of my arms, the distance between my fists, their relative position to an imaginary opponent, and I make whatever changes I think may be of benefit to me when I enter the ring. Then I sidestep, shift my shoulder, counter and cross-counter, swing, and duck, performing each motion slowly and scrupulously, watching each for imperfections. Some of my tricks I repeat fifty times before I think they are perfectly executed."

Few fans realize that it means financially to carry a baseball team through the season. It was recently figured out the number of miles the St. Louis club will travel this summer, and the expenses of Tebeau's team for railroad fares are about the same as those of any of the National league clubs. According to Robinson's figures the Braves will travel 10,877 miles during the season. Using these figures as a basis of estimation a St. Louis paper goes on to say:

As the team will carry an average of fifteen men on each trip, it will be seen the total mileage which will have to be paid for is 162,555. As there are eight clubs which must go over the same ground, and which will carry about the same number of players, it will be seen that the ball players will cover an aggregate of 1,300,440 miles. For this class of travel the railroads receive a cents per mile, amounting to $25,000. In addition to this there are sleeper and bus fares and hotel bills. The sleeper fare will average about $2 per 200 miles, making an aggregate to each player for the season of about $2, or $100 per club, or $500 for the entire team. Bus fares will average $5 per day while the team is on the road, and will make at least five trips to the parks on the days when the weather will prevent a game, the bus fare will amount to about $375 per club for the season, or $300 for the entire league. Next come hotel bills, which will average $2.50 per day. With open dates and trains the players of each club will spend at least eighty-five days away from home during the season at an expense of $3750 per day per club. This makes a total for the season of $2187.50 for each club, or $25,500 for the entire league. Thus the league's hotel and traveling bill for the season of six months will sum up as follows:

Railroad and sleeper..... $21,875
Hotel..... $25,500

THE COPPER DISTRICT.

First Workmen's Strike In This Region For Nearly Three Years Settled By An Advance In Wages.

Calumet and Hecla Mine Now Earning Nearly $1,000,000 a Month In Profits. Short Supply of Coal Causing Trouble.

Houghton, Mich., April 14.—(Special The Herald.)—The first workmen's strike for nearly three years has been noted this week in the copper district. The miners of the Franklin Junior, about 100 in number, struck for a 10 per cent advance in wages. The trouble was settled by advancing the men working on company account to $2.25 per day, equal to about $55 per month for full time, against the former wage of $22 per month. There is little dissatisfaction in the rank and file of the miners. The driving of the 2000 piles required for the foundations of the new stamp mill of the Calumet & Hecla, which is planned for the treating of rock from the new adzehead mine being opened on the Oceola lode, will be completed this month. The piles are forty feet in length, and it is evident that the mill will be superior in many if not in most respects to anything in that line yet running in this district.

The tunnel connecting the old and new mills of the Franklin and Oceola companies is nearly completed. It is of sufficient size to permit trams to traverse its entire length. Consumption Never Cures Itself.

Drops of water may in time wear away the hardest rock. A tickling in the throat, a slight cough, may be the danger sign of the consumptive of tomorrow. Nature is generally conservative and gives a signal and a warning that those who would avoid death by consumption had better heed.

There are times when the overworked system needs artificial assistance, when the wheels of the human machine are clogged and its smooth working impaired. A pure, invigorating stimulant like Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is invaluable as a tonic when you are run down and depressed, when the heart is weak and the blood sluggish. It assists failing nature to resume its functions and imparts vigor and energy to every part of the body.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has been before the public for 40 years and still carries a blessing to suffering humanity. Doctors know its value. They know that it has been proved absolutely pure in hundreds of tests by the country's best chemists.

Over 7,000 leading physicians prescribe and recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, exclusively, for coughs, colds, bronchitis, consumption, whooping-cough, grip, nervous depression and all wasting diseases from whatever cause. It is used in over 2,000 prominent hospitals to the exclusion of all other alcoholic stimulants, on account of its purity and excellence.

DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY is the greatest heart tonic known to science. It renovates and invigorates the entire system, makes the old young, keeps the young strong.

There are other medicines. You pay a little less at first, perhaps, but what a bill with outraged nature you have to settle in the end!

Experience of a Distinguished Nurse.

The distinguished writer of the following testimonial has served her beneficent mission at the head of some of the largest curative and charitable institutions of the country.

It gives me great pleasure to recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which I have used for consumptives in the last stages of the dread disease. Askle for its medicinal properties it is very mild. The patient can retain it when all other stimulants fail. I recommend it to all.

For the genuine, refuse drugged substitutes. Genuine is bottled and sealed over the cork and the bottle has on it the government stamp. Beware of free trade labels. All druggists and grocers.

Pony Bonnyaire when he captured the Alps in Norway.

"True for you, Ghost," said O'Brien.

"But 'tis my opinion by reason of the facts in the case, that the English will never take the Transvaal; that's what I think."

"Oh, you do, do you?" exclaimed the Schoolmaster, "and why not they?"

"Arrah, I did not know, what's it like?"

"Of course they have, nobody can deny that unless he wanted to kill him, and that's through a little hole in the wider nor Doyers street. The Boerhans have this alley all filled with barbed wire fences, and are ready on top of the hills to pick you off when you're in 'like a gurri' pickin' blackberries."

"Dear, dear!" interrupted the Blackbird. "But, Paddy, can't they go around?"

"Well, they might," said Paddy, "but 'tis a long way they'd have to go. First, they'd cross the Suez canal into Constantinople. From there they'd have to go thro' the Holy Land into Egypt and then across the Red sea and land on the coast of San Francisco in California. How the devil will they get there then, I ask you?"

This serious geographical problem excited general comment and considerable acrimony. As the dispute waxed hotter three men arose, and there was imminent danger of a collision, when the door opened and Chuck Connors came in.

"What's a'chun' ye jumooks?" exclaimed Chuck, as he pushed the irate Tippo down into a chair and placed his body between O'Brien and the Blackbird. He listened to an explanation of the trouble and diplomatically switched the conversation back to Flaherty.

"Ye were talkin' about Flaherty, eh?" said he. "Well, I knowed him when we was workin' in Dolan's beanyery years ago. We used to call him the max, and it rollin' down hill. But he got an idea he'd like to learn how to fence, the way the frog-eaters fight, wild swords, and he went up to the fence school up-town to learn how. But, see ye, he couldn't do much at that game bick work. His wrist wasn't soope enough. He could put his elbow on the bar and put anny man's hand down that dared tackle him, but the teacher told him he could not monkey with the sword quick enough, and a man as knew his business would run him thro' as easy as ye'd run a nail thro' cheese. Well, he got wiled in a little French restaurant on Blackrock street washin' dishes, and the Frenchman mislaid him of him becase he was clumsy. Wan night when he was carryin' a pile of dishes into the kitchen a dirty little Frenchman put out his foot and tripped poor Flaherty up and floored him, dish and all. When Flaherty got on his feet want more he grabbed the other by the hair and the other by the whiskers and he knocked their heads together until their teeth fell out on the floor. Tare-an-angels! rocks-an-bones! there was a row then!" But Flaherty cleared out the place wid a carvin' knife and the next day he was handed a challenge to a duel by wan of the Frenchman's friends. As soon as he got it he said he'd fight him on the place where the Blackbird was six foot four, and he had an arrum as long as a ladder. So he went up to the sword school and he learned the lessons and he wanted to fight with rappers. Ye never saw a rappers, did ye, Tippo?"

"I did not, Chuck. What's it like?"

"Ye shaped like a three-cornered file and the blades are that sharp they'd cut paper, and the point! Tippo, 'tis like the end of a needle. Wan little touch 'ud send a fellow flying a mile or two. You shoulderblade and you'd be spitted like a frog on a fork."

"Arrah, I did not know the save use!" exclaimed the Blackbird with a shudder.

"He was a darlin' dizen was Flaherty. He went go up them games," resumed Chuck. "But the teacher told him 'twould be no use for him meane the Frinchman 'ud rappers becase he would be filled wid holes. He asked Flaherty to teach him, and he said Flaherty said he only wanted to see some fun wid him. SOUGHT HER LOST CHILD

Crazed Mother Did Not Know the Sympathetic Women Who Wept Over Her Was Her Own Little Girl.

Margaret Hall died in St. Louis but a few weeks ago. Many who read the brief notice in the daily papers knitted their brows and tried to remember something that the name suggested: some romance or some tragedy. There was no line added to the terse statement, "Louisville papers please copy." Had there been the name might have passed unheeded, for the woman was known as Jessie Morgan here. Mrs. Mary Mitchell, a Red Cross nurse, whose good work leads her into the dark portions of Louisville, saw the announcement and remembered an incident in the history of the unfortunate woman which is among the annals of every day life.

About ten years ago a woman stood at her door, a woman with wan, hungry, marked face and worn feet. "I won't do any harm," said the intruder pleadingly. "I am only looking for my little girl. I can't tell you how I lost her, and I want to ask you if you have seen anything of a lost child. I thought, maybe, she might be here. She is so pretty and nice and pretty things, and I have been told she might be here."

Just at that moment a suppressed groan came from behind the draperies that veiled the drawing room door. The servant rushed to the place, forgetting for a moment that anyone was in the open door. He found Mrs. Mitchell with tears streaming down her face, presenting a picture of despair. "Bring her in," she said. "Don't stare looking like that. Bring her in." The old woman heard her and came forward. "Have you seen my little girl?" asked the stranger. The woman pointed to a chair and sank down, her face trembling.

The stranger looked on the room with childish pleasure, glancing at the face of her hostess and lingering while gradually there grew in her eyes a pitiful, doubtful expression. "You said you had seen my little girl, didn't you, ma'am?" "Yes, I have," answered the woman, and then she said, "I have seen her, but she is not the same as she was when I lost her. She is not the same as she was when I lost her."

"Tell me about her," exclaimed the stranger, suddenly standing erect and grasping the arms of the chair for support. "Pray sit down, ma'am, and I will tell you all that I know." It happened in this way. Six years ago I was returning from the opera one stormy night in my carriage. As we passed an alley I saw in the gaslight a girl of perhaps 12 or 14 years lying prostrate on the pavement. Orders the coachman to stop, and pointing to the figure, I told him to bring her into the carriage and we took her home. Arriving at the house I at once telephoned for the doctor, then as soon as possible she was put to bed in a warm room and everything that could be done was done to restore consciousness, but nothing could be done until the doctor arrived.

He soon brought her back to consciousness, but her mind was still cloudy, and she was unable to tell us that she had left home while in a state of temporary insanity, which was very common to her. She was completely broken down from exposure to the cold, from her mental distress, and from lying without food for so long. We put her under the personal care of a specialist, and in a short time under his skillful treatment she was thoroughly and permanently cured, and in a few months she was a happy, healthy, and cheerful as a butterfly, such a change from the condition in which we found her. She has won her way into my heart, and the thought of parting with her caused me a terrible shock, as I realized that I was losing a beautiful girl, and that I was losing a beautiful girl, and that I was losing a beautiful girl.

Red Cross Nurse, Kentucky Post, Louisville, Ky., April 13.—(Special to The Herald).—Dr. Rea, specialist, has arranged to make his next professional visit to the Northwest and will visit the following towns: St. Cloud, St. Charles hotel, Friday, April 7. SUNK BACK INTO HER CHAIR. The old lady during the story had sunk back into the chair in a state of partial insensibility, from time to time, however, looking at the doctor, and from time to time, looking at the doctor, and from time to time, looking at the doctor.

The lady called Margaret into the room, and told her all that had happened; that this was her mother who, crazed by her loss, since leaving home, usually being a street wanderer, looking for her girl. Upon hearing this the girl broke into tears, clasped her arms around the old woman's neck, calling her "mother," and doing all possible to restore her. Such, however, was vain. The specialist, Dr. Rea, who had so successfully treated Miss Hall, was summoned, but unfortunately he was out of the city and could not be had. Other physicians were called in, and all that kind hearts and loving hands could do was done for the sufferer, but the best treatment and attention was of no avail. Her daughter was constantly at her bedside with the hopes that her mother might regain consciousness and recognize her, but she was vain. The doctor, however, and without knowing that the sympathetic woman who wept over and cared for her was her own little girl.

In an interview with Mrs. Mitchell she said in part: "I regret one thing very much, and that is that we were unable to reach the services of our physician, Dr. Rea, he has been so successful with the child that I am most sure that he could have saved her mother if he could have only had him. He was too far away and by the time that he would have reached her bedside would have been too late."

I have known of several such cases that Dr. Rea has cured. I have known him to take these cases when others had failed and bring them out with perfect ease. Dr. Rea is curing thousands of patients all over the United States. I know personally that he is treating patients in every state in the Union and that he is acquainted with all kinds of climate and is particularly experienced with the different diseases that are liable to occur in the different sections of the country. Not long ago I was in the Northwest and while there I met a number of his patients. They all told me of the miraculous features in his practice. His unerring ability to tell a patient his disease without asking a question and the ease with which he cures the most malignant diseases. It is said that Dr. Rea can take any patient and in a few minutes tell any symptom of their disease even better than they can tell him. In cancer, consumption, tumor, paralysis, heart disease, kidney, nervous and stomach diseases he has no equal. That his patients as a rule are those that have been given up by physicians as incurable, and yet these incurable diseases seem to be handled by him with the utmost ease. He has cured more than a thousand patients in the state of Minnesota and the Dakotas alone. From authentic reports I will name you a few: Mrs. Catherine Dilly, Northfield, Minn., cured of deafness of long standing. Had doctored lots before but had no relief. John Burr, Parker town, Minn., cured of nervous stomach and bowel troubles. Cured easily by Dr. Rea and in a short time.

J. H. Miller, Cold Springs, Minn., cured of piles, weak, watery blood and loss of nerve power. William Smith's child, Parktown, Minn., cured after it had been sick all its life.

Andrew Caldwell, Enderlin, N. D., cured of growth over the eye. Cured in one treatment. George Becker, Grafton, N. D., cured of hydrocele and varicose veins. Cured in two treatments by the absorption method.

Martin Orth, Holding Ford, Minn., cured of chronic catarrh of the stomach. Had tried other doctors but received no benefit at all. P. W. Scott, West Duluth, Minn., cured of chronic diarrhea and bad blood troubles. Was an old soldier and had been sick for years. Cured in two months.

W. W. Shea, Kellogg, Minn., operated on for prostatic on both eyes. Removed in fifteen minutes. Gna. Swickerson, Moorhead, Minn., cured of rupture. Cured in three treatments. John Lundeen, Carles, Minn., cured of chronic deafness.

W. A. Thompson, Duluth, Minn., cured of cancer of the lip. Mrs. Louis Thorsen, Nelson, Minn., cured of chronic fungoid cancerous growth of the stomach. Had been sick for a pretty lively one of late. Mr. Lindgren, a most beautiful case and seems to have been cured of a thing which he has to vigorously combat. This is the feeling that he has the federal office holders and machine behind him. This is the feeling that he has the federal office holders and machine behind him. This is the feeling that he has the federal office holders and machine behind him.

Windom's Strength Is Increasing.

Leading Republicans of the City Have Joined His Forces and Doing all They Can to Defeat Morris.

Attitude of Morris in Opposition to Senator Nelson on Porto Rican Question Causes Scandinavians to Turn Against the Judge.

As the day upon which the Republican county convention opens draws nearer the fight is getting more open. There is less of preliminary and more of the hard fighting. The Windom organization is getting into definite shape and more will be heard of it from now on than in the weeks past. The Windom organization which runs the Morris campaign is a thing which exists all the time and is ready for work at a moment's notice. It is at its teeth and nail now.

The Windom forces have had a number of acquisitions of considerable importance within a few days. Some of the leading Republicans of the city have come out flat-footed for him and are doing all in their power to help him. The strength of the Windom sentiment is surprising and the Willis faction is beginning to appreciate the fact that there is trouble brewing. Of course this will serve to make them more active and fight all the harder.

Next Monday Windom headquarters will be opened in the Chamber of Commerce building in not only the city but in the campaign will be prosecuted with vigor until the time of the county convention, May 2. The headquarters will be in charge of J. P. Johnson and he will handle the campaign for Mr. Windom. That he is a good organizer there is little doubt. He has managed numerous campaigns in not only the city but in the campaign will be prosecuted with vigor until the time of the county convention, May 2. The headquarters will be in charge of J. P. Johnson and he will handle the campaign for Mr. Windom. That he is a good organizer there is little doubt.

Mr. Windom's chance for success depends almost entirely on the strength of his organization, so far as the city is concerned at least. The sentiment against Morris is very strong and the Herald has several times explained he is not a popular man with the masses. The men who have to do the winning know that he is a hard man to work for, because he cannot mix with the people as he should. He is out of his element when down in the wards. For this reason he has no personal following for he is not a popular man. As the days go by the feeling over the Windom matter, instead of blowing away, is growing more and more. It is becoming more and more disgusted.

John Davis and Nelson are the idols of the party in the state. Morris is an awful break when he told the people that he was going to the banquet in this city in March that they should study these questions and inform themselves about the delegates in the matter. "We statesmen have to study." The people do not like to be told that they are ignorant and that they are out of their element when they are talking about and when they see their own opinions held by such statesmen as Morris and Nelson. They are apt to think they are right even if they are not at Washington. They are apt to think they are right even if they are not at Washington.

On fact, Mr. Willis did solicit funds for the club and it was he who paid the bill for the lecture delivered in the Lyceum. Willis was not a popular man with the masses. The men who have to do the winning know that he is a hard man to work for, because he cannot mix with the people as he should. He is out of his element when down in the wards. For this reason he has no personal following for he is not a popular man. As the days go by the feeling over the Windom matter, instead of blowing away, is growing more and more. It is becoming more and more disgusted.

The Buffalo Gazette recently commented very truthfully on the lack of popularity of Morris. It said: "The Buffalo River Star-News, who, by the way, is one of the federal officeholders. Editor Dore of the Sheboygan County Star-News says himself that he is not a popular man with the masses. The men who have to do the winning know that he is a hard man to work for, because he cannot mix with the people as he should. He is out of his element when down in the wards. For this reason he has no personal following for he is not a popular man."

district. That Mr. Baldwin could give Mr. Morris a very hard run there is no doubt. He is immensely popular in the Northwest corner of the state, and during his term in the legislature last winter he made a fine record and won the friendship of political friends and enemies alike. His ability is unquestioned and his integrity equally so. In addition he has a considerable following in the state senate in order to run for congress. It would not be necessary for him to resign from the senate when first elected to represent the First district in congress, was representing the Winona district in the state senate, and he did not resign even after his election to congress, but served out his term in the senate. Backward Weather and the Weakness of Leading Staples Clouds the Outlook—Further Declines in Various Lines are Expected.

New York, April 14.—Bradstreet's today says: Backward spring weather conditions have been unfavorable to the distributive trade this week, and in connection with some weakness in prices of leading staples have imparted an appearance of irregularity to the general situation. Another one of those downward swings in the prices of agricultural staples is exhibited this week in slightly lower prices for the cereals, partly because of the bearish position of immediate supplies and partly because of the fact that the market is not so well supplied as it was a month ago. Gossip of the Stage

"Hot Old Time" on Monday, Georgia Minstrels on Wednesday, and "Darkest Russia" on Saturday at Lyceum.

Aronson Has Secured Many New Operas and Operettas.

Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon to Be Married.

The Rays' successful eccentric comedy, "A Hot Old Time," is truly the fountain of hilarious frolic, scintillating wit, bright skits, replete with satire, song and sensation. It comes to us this season revised and brightened, and acted by one of the ablest comedy companies gathered together under one banner, the cleverest of farce comedy comedians, graceful dancers, the best burlesque favorites, the regnant stars of comic opera, the off of elegant extravaganzas. These are the artists that will be seen with this fine de siècle production of "A Hot Old Time." John W. Jess, the prince of eccentric Irish comedians; William McElroy, a clever young juvenile; W. Wallace Black, an actor with an unusually good singing voice; John C. Leath, one of the most amusing of character comedians; Charles J. Newton and Joe Darling, in characters well suited to their respective abilities; Ada Henry, the leading woman of the company; Ada Melrose and Pearl Revare, in character and singing specialties; Annie St. Paul, the "founding Antelope" and the sensational dancer; Hyberta Pryme and Beatrice Rice, singing comedians; and John and Bertha Gleason, in their artistic dances and cakewalks. The music is under the direction of Mr. Frank Hughes.

FAMOUS GEORGIA MINSTRELS. Fifty popular performers, minstrel vaudeville, comic opera and farce comedy make up the roster of Richards & Pringle's famous Georgia Minstrels that will appear at the Lyceum Wednesday evening. The press pronounce this one of the largest and best companies in this favorite line of amusement. They are all strong and the program is varied and mighty attractive, no surfeit of any one feature. While retaining all of the old-time minstrel pleasures of the good old days "foh de wah," it has added bright up-to-date novelty acts that include a troupe of wonderful tumbling and acrobatic Arabs, rick bicyclists, comedians, singers, dancers, wire walkers, the Alabama quartet and numerous other big features. The street parade at 2:30 p. m. will include two big military bands.

"DARKEST RUSSIA." Edwin C. Johnson's production of "Darkest Russia" will be the attraction at the Lyceum next Saturday. Good plays are those that fulfill their mission as entertainers and please the paying public, for no matter what the writers may say, the people are the critics after all, and the life of a play is measured by its patronage, and, in this day and generation, is only bestowed for any length of time, on the better order of stage creations, for the amusement seeker has learned to be most discriminating in the bestowal of his favor. This play is now well entered on its seventh consecutive season would indicate that it had in it those requisites so dear to the heart of the theater-goer—love, interest and comedy, for these have been pronounced the three essentials of a good play. Johnstone Bennett while in town a week or so ago had a British subject's feelings, says the New York Telegraph.

Miss Bennett was walking down the expensive side of Broadway, attired as Solomon in all his glory and she suddenly had a watering-like inspiration to dart across the street. She made a sudden shift off the sidewalk and found herself just under the bows of a cab that appeared above her. With an athletic spring she regained the curb just in time to escape getting a ticket for being under the wheels of a taxed, and glaring sternly at the cabby, demanded:

"Who the deuce are you trying to run down?"

"Hanged if I know, Bub," answered the ready-witted man behind the horse. "You're a new species to me."

AN ELEPHANT TRAGEDY. Last Sunday afternoon, while a concert was being held at the Crystal Palace, an elephant belonging to the circus which had been performing there broke from its fastenings and ran into the audience.

It then brushed through various partitions of wood and glass, and at once entered a main building, where a great number of persons were listening to the music. It did not attempt to hurt any of the crowd, though it broke off with its trunk the uplifted arm of a statue, probably under the idea that it represented a man about to strike. After some time it was secured by a man who had been watching it.

It was then taken to the stable and kept there until it was quiet. It was then taken to the stable and kept there until it was quiet. It was then taken to the stable and kept there until it was quiet.

GREAT WORK.

The Great Rapid Transit Terminal Recently Begun In New York.

Scope of the Scheme and Some Details of the Undertaking.

Under the direction of the municipal assembly, the first step in the construction of the underground subway railroad for the Rapid Transit commission were taken on Saturday, March 24, in the plot in front of the city hall steps.

The mayor dug the first shovel of earth for the purpose, accompanied by appropriate ceremonies, and the shovel was treasured with other city trophies. A tremendous canopy was erected to protect the guests of the occasion, and there was music and speeches by the mayor, President Orr, of the Rapid Transit commission and others more or less directly connected with the great undertaking.

Great as the undertaking is, in reality it marks only the beginning of a gigantic system of improved transit which this city is bound to maintain. It will be the most important branches in the system, but its branches will reach out in all directions, binding together closer than ever the several boroughs of the city and making quick interchange of traffic possible. COLUMBIAN

GRANITE WARE

A lady asked us today why Columbian Granite Ware was better than other makes. We answered that the secret was in the enamel used and also the care taken in baking it. Each piece of Columbian Ware has four coatings of granite enamel, and each coating is baked on separately. Not only that, but every piece is examined carefully both at factory and when it comes into our store. You do not find any dish with small pieces of the enamel cracking off. Look around and see if you can find another brand where every piece is perfect. Also bear in mind that we guarantee every piece for one year.

A GREAT EASTER

Bright and Beautiful Weather

VERY FINE SERVICES

All Churches Observe the Day—Sermon By Bishop
McGlorick.

A more glorious Easter Sunday never dawned than yesterday, and for once the purchasers of Easter millinery were given the best of opportunities to display their riches of spring headgear. The sun shone brilliantly out of a cloudless sky, and the wind, though it came from the cool fountains of Lake Superior, was mild, and therefore its effect was only to send the blood pulsing joyously through the veins of the thousands who spent part of their day out of doors. The churches were all crowded in the morning, and not less interesting than the banks of bloom about the altars and the banks of bloom representing the Easter purchases of the feminine portions of the various congregations. In the afternoon the concert at the Army brought out a large crowd, and many others dispersed themselves about the city and its environs rilling and riling.

The woods are a bit behind the head the less many sought them yesterday. The trees are still bare, and the winter browns and grays of the earth are only slightly relieved by touches of green. A few of the trees and shrubs are putting forth hardy buds, and many of those who visited the woods returned with sprigs of pussy willow, whose big buds, with their coats of warm fur are designed by nature for an early appearance. On Minnesota Point the few pieces of the sampling season that have already located their lares and Penates there were glad of it, for the day was a treat to the many delightful ones they may expect during the coming summer. Less than a month ago, the chest of what it will be a few weeks later, was visited by many people yesterday, and the falls about the lake which have worn their way through their winter coating of ice in many places, were the objects of many little pilgrimages.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Fine Music and Sermon By Bishop McGlorick at the Cathedral.

The services at the Cathedral on Easter Sunday are always of a very imposing nature, and the music more than ordinarily fine. Yesterday the choir sang Gounod's "Agnus Dei," and the Pastor's orchestra aided the organ on the instrumentation. There were a number of solos, duets, and trios, and the choir sang the beautiful "Salve Regina," by Dana. A solemn high mass was celebrated.

Bishop McGlorick delivered the sermon, and he preached of the resurrection and the effect which the dawn of Christianity had upon the world. The condition of the Christian church at the time of the death of Christ was desperate. He who had said that he would destroy the temple in three days, and who claimed to be the Son of God, had been crucified upon the cross, and according to the custom of the time, made him to be buried in a tomb. The resurrection brought to them a new light and a new faith, and brought back their confidence.

The bishop then pictured the coming of Christianity to the Christian motive of law of old and the Christian motive of love. Before the coming of Christianity, the law of might ruled. In war the conquering nation killed all of its enemies, and it was "vow to the conqueror." In battle there were no doctors, no nurses, no sympathy for the wounded or dying. The wounded were put to death, and the captives were dragged through the streets of the conquerors in chains. Under the old law, too, it was "vow to the conqueror," as well as "vow to the conquered." The poets sang of the kings and the nobles, and the poor were despised. The civil war was vastly different from our law of today. The father was the head of the house, doing with the wife and children as he pleased, even to putting the wife away and taking another. Polygamy flourished, just as it has and does now with every people that do not believe in the Christian law. The difference from the Christian law was even more marked. The Jews looked upon themselves as the chosen people of God, and they had the ten commandments handed down to them by Moses. The Christians have a beautiful form of worship, building large temples and adorning them with great wealth in honor of their gods. No warrior went to battle without first offering to the gods, and when he returned victorious he went first to the temple and offered up his thanks to his gods. The gratifications of the passions were beautiful, wordly and within the reason and comprehension of man. Christianity was to effect can be imagined from this picture. The reasonable religion of the Jew and Pagan, satisfactory to the body and mind, was to be supplanted by a religion mysterious and beyond the reason of man, calling for great faith upon his part, a religion that was to upset all former traditions, to completely change the national, moral and civil law and conduct. This was the immense work that Christianity had before it, and on that day when Christ had his disciples to go forth and teach all nations, there were only twelve poor fishermen to give that religion to the world.

The speaker told of the gradual conversion of the world, of the persecutions that were heaped upon Christianity, until, in the third century, it was believed to be entirely blotted out. He declared that there has been no religion brought up against the church in the past, or at the present time, vile charges of, slanders that cannot be found in the writings of the Pagan philosophers and writers who opposed Christianity in the third and fourth centuries. Today that Christianity, whose beginning was so humble, is the governing force of the world. The tendency of the world is downward, and the gratification of the passions is always debasing to man. Christianity is the uplifting force that keeps him from the evil effects of the world and the flesh and the devil. The bishop closed by picturing the reward of

THE BIG GLASS BLOCK STORE

Is the Center of Attraction. PANION & DULUTH, MINN.

IT ISN'T EVERYBODY that can make a success of the mercantile business. Some natural fitness is necessary. Competition is so keen that some advantages must be possessed. Just now the public of St. Louis and Douglas counties have "caught on" to the fact that the Bargains we offer and the Novelties we are daily showing cannot be matched anywhere else at the Head of the Lakes. KENTUCKY CONTEST

Cases Involving Governorship
Docketed in the Federal Supreme Court.

SOON TO BE ARGUED

Probable That the Question of Jurisdiction Will Settle the Matter.

Washington, April 16.—The cases involving the Kentucky governorship were docketed in the United States supreme court today. A brief statement, in which counsel for both Taylor and Beckham joined, was filed at the same time, asking for an early hearing. In this agreed statement it is set forth that both Taylor and Beckham as governor, John Marshall as lieutenant governor on the Republican side, and L. H. Carter as president pro tempore of the senate, and John B. Castleman as adjutant general on the Democratic side, are each and all claiming the right to, and are actually attempting to exercise the powers of the respective offices severally claimed by them, thus producing great confusion in Kentucky by reason of the doubts as to which of the persons named has the lawful right to exercise the authority pertaining to the several offices named, all to the great injury and detriment of the people of the state.

The agreed statement says both parties are claiming the right to perform all the functions of the office of governor, and each of them is attempting, and has actually attempted, to perform many of the functions, and concludes: "Some of the officers of the state recognize the acts of the plaintiff in error, William S. Taylor, as the lawful acts of the governor of the state, and refuse to recognize similar acts by defendant in error, J. C. W. Beckham; while other officers of the state recognize the acts of J. C. W. Beckham as the lawful acts of the governor of the state and refuse to recognize the acts of William S. Taylor as such governor."

By reason of all these facts and others which might be enumerated, it is of the utmost importance to the people of the state of Kentucky that the question of the right of office involved in the above said litigation be determined. The questions of law involved in said cases are of very great and grave interest and importance, involving the nature and extent of the powers of an election contest tribunal and the powers of the judiciary with relation thereto.

The supreme court set the case to be heard on April 20, and gave each side four hours for argument. Mr. Bruce presented the above statement of fact, and the court set the case hearing on the 20th instant, granting each side four hours for argument. While Mr. Bruce was making his statement the chief justice asked him if he did not expect the question of jurisdiction to be raised, and whether he did not also expect the court to dismiss.

Mr. Bruce replied that both were probable, but that there was such confusion in the minds of all were anxious for a decision during the present term of court, and that the case undertaken was apparently the only one open. "If," he added, "the court should sustain the motion to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction, that result would, of course, end the controversy."

If the opinion on such a motion should be adverse to dismissal, it would then, he admitted, probably be too late to hear the case on its merits.

SITUATION AT CROTON. Feared That the Strikers Will Dynamite the Dam.

Croton, N. Y., April 16.—Vague rumors of the intention to use dynamite by the strikers to break the old Croton dam and flood the Croton valley were current throughout the night, but so far everything is quiet and orderly. There is no doubt the striking Italians are in possession of a lot of dynamite, and they are accustomed to the handling of the explosive. The old dam is entirely unprotected. It is generally understood that the men will keep away from the dam when the militia arrive here. They say they have money enough saved to keep them for several months, and as soon as the soldiers go away they will have their interference and do a lot of damage. There are several boatloads of cement lying at the docks here, and it is needed to continue the work. The strikers say the contract will not be permitted to haul it, and it is to guard against an attack in this respect. Up to 10 o'clock today there was not a move made by the contractors or their representatives to put anyone to work at the new dam. It was learned that application for warrants for the arrest of the leaders had been made, and arrests may occur at any time, and arrests may occur at any time, and arrests may occur at any time.

About 8 o'clock this morning 150 of the strikers gathered on the top of the hill, near what is called "Little Italy," and they were talked to in Italian by the leaders. About forty of the men on the hill were armed with rifles and shotguns. Many others carried revolvers, and two of them had hatchets. The leaders refused to talk with reporters of their plans. Everything in the valley below was at a standstill. There were over 200 deputies scattered around the works near the new dam. The infantry and cavalry are expected to arrive on the scene any time this afternoon.

LITTLE TO SEE. Thousands of Sightseers Flooded to the Paris Exposition on Sunday.

New York, April 16.—A Paris cablegram to the Herald says: "The Parisian on Sunday morning, April 15, was a day of great interest. The exposition was very crowded. Thousands of persons poured through the galleries of various entrances, and by 1 o'clock the principal halls of the exposition were crowded with visitors. The Eiffel tower, however, much the same experience as the more privileged persons the day before. The Trocadero were soon filled with sightseers, who beyond the tangles of the various buildings found but little to see. With, however, the good-natured curiosity of the Parisian, they were not deterred from climbing over the tops of the buildings and traversing yawning ditches. The most popular institution in the whole exhibition was undoubtedly the moving

Why is Electric Light Best?

Because it is Healthy, Clean, Pure and Brilliant.

HEALTHY! It has no odor. Professor Thompson states one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.
CLEAN! It causes no discolorations of furnishings and decorations in homes.
SAFE! As electric bell work, no danger of suffocation.
CHEAP! By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

SEARCHED THE SPECTATORS.

The Officers Hunt For Concealed Weapons at Colson's Trial.

Frankfort, Ky., April 17.—The case of Col. David G. Colson, charged with the killing of Lieut. Ethelbert Scott and Lieut. W. Donahue in the shooting affray at the Capitol hotel, this city, several months ago, was on the docket in Judge Cantrell's court today. Deputy sheriffs stood at the doors and searched for concealed weapons of every person seeking admittance. A civil suit occupied the morning session and delayed the beginning of what is expected to be an extremely sensational trial.

The Colson case was called first before noon. The prosecution announced itself ready, provided Capt. H. B. Golden and ex-congressman John H. Wilson, leading witnesses for the state, were brought in.

ROBERTS' ADVANCE

All Signs Point to the Probability of His Moving Soon.

HIS HAND IS FORCED

Boer Tactics Have Probably Made Further Delay Dangerous For Him.

London, April 17.—At last Roberts seems to be on the eve of making his advance towards Pretoria. Unless the usually reliable sources of information and the indications smuggled past the censor are at fault, the British army within a few days will be marching northward.

After many premature and unfounded reports that have purported to tell of this move, there is naturally, even in the best informed quarters, considerable hesitancy in definitely settling upon the day Lord Roberts is likely to leave Bloemfontein, but there is a settled impression that it will occur either at the end of this week or the beginning of the next.

This long, weary wait in the Free State capital has apparently effected a much-needed rehabilitation, though it is possible that Lord Roberts would still have further delayed his advance had not the Boer inactivity forced him to put his forces in such positions that, unless they were to retreat, they would be forced to advance northward, the strategic advantage will be lost.

The critics agree in the supposition that the advance will be made with all columns, with a broad front west of the railroad, the Third and Eighth divisions sweeping northward to the extreme northwest, the entire force amounting to 75,000 men.

Exactly what will be done, Butler will be still a secret which no one is able to probe.

From the seat of war there is significant news. From the Hague comes the news that the Boer delegates refuse to object public the object of their mission. They hope to be received by Queen Wilhelmina, but nothing in this direction has yet been decided upon.

RETRAIT OF THE BOERS.

Report of Retreat From Elands-laagte District Confirmed.

Not long ago the dispatch to the Tribune from London says: Lady Smith dispatches confirm the report that the Boers have retired from the Elands-laagte district to their Biggarsburg position. The Boers have moved southward have been reported and it is now clear that the Boer advance was merely for the sake of the Boers' burghers in active duty and of checking desertions. The British inactivity, which has been previously, since it demoralizes the enemy.

Sir Redvers Buller's scouts have reported that the Boers have destroyed the engine house and shafts of three collieries by heavy charges of dynamite. These wanted attacks upon private property have been characteristic of the Dutch campaign. South Africans say it is on the theory that the Boers are aware that claims for damages to property in Natal and Cape Colony, which will be presented after the war, can never be assessed against the farmers of the two commonwealths, but will be liquidated by the mine owners of the Rand. Accordingly, the Boers feel at liberty to inflict as much damage as possible, since the indemnity will come out of the mining industry of the Rand in the form of taxation levied on the profits of the companies. The theory is correct, without doubt, that the Boers will not be deterred by the war is over. Neither Pretoria nor Bloemfontein has resources for liquidating war indemnities and bills for damages.

An official bulletin issued at Pretoria states that the Boers have been driven in the various sections and implies that there is activity all along the line. The Boer forces have been driven in the various sections and implies that there is activity all along the line. The Boer forces have been driven in the various sections and implies that there is activity all along the line.

The general situation at Bloemfontein is unchanged. Military experts here do not expect an advance northward for a week or ten days, since Lord Roberts is waiting for large shipments of horses, which have barely arrived at Cape Town. They are also convinced that Gen. Buller will remain on the defensive and not attack Biggarsburg until the enemy's force has been drawn off by Lord Roberts' invasion of the Transvaal.

It is considered probable that Gen. Hunter and Brabant will work their way up to Wepener and Ladybrand and in this way protect Lord Roberts' line of communication. The Boers have not returned and the bombardment was not intended to attack Biggarsburg, but to draw off the Boers from the line of communication.

HUNGER AT MAFKING.

London, April 17.—The Daily Mail has the following from Lady Sarah Wilson, dated Mafeking, April 16: "The pinch of hunger is beginning to be felt and relief seems more distant than ever. Since March 31 there has been no shelling, unless, Commander Smyth has taken the Boers to war. Col. Plumer's road. Yesterday, however, he returned and the bombardment was renewed today with splendid high velocity. The Boers and men of the Irish regiments in South Africa. The queen's afternoon drive included Donnybrook.

REPORTED BOER MOVEMENT.

Bloemfontein Dispatches Say They Have Left Wepener.

London, April 17.—The Bloemfontein correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, in a dispatch dated yesterday, says: "The Boers have raised the siege at Wepener and have left Rouxville. A majority of them have undoubtedly returned north, with the exception of a body of about 6000, now reported to be going toward Bethulie."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of the Standard, telegraphing Monday, says: "The Boers are in full retreat from Wepener, having been driven out of the town by the Basutos, who are marching parallel with them along the frontier, watching eagerly for the slightest encroachment."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of the Times, telegraphing Monday, says: "The Boers who have been investing Wepener are reported to be moving in a southerly direction, but the object of the movement is uncertain."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of the Morning Post, telegraphing Monday, says: "Small bodies of Boers are prowling around and are even coming in within eight or ten miles of Bloemfontein. Three or four hundred Boers actually entered the town one night and escaped without being discovered. The Boer demonstration yesterday at Karoo staling was designed to cover the withdrawal of an immense convoy of provisions. There is no doubt that the Boer incursions into the southeastern part of the Free State was largely due to the need of replenishing the stores of the army."

BOERS STILL AT WEPENER.

Display Great Activity, Probably Preparing For Relief Force.

Mafeking, Bloemfontein, Monday, April 16.—The Boers for two days past, have been displaying great activity along the Reddersburg and Rouxville road. Their scouts today, unless they remain or retreat, are to these places to the relief of Wepener, and that the burghers, consequently are distressed, whether to remain or retreat, is a matter of their desire to abandon the fort, while the minority, led by Commandant Olivier, are reluctant to move at all, as there is a chance to capture Col. Dalrymple's garrison.

The Boers have just reported rifle firing in the direction of Thaba Nchu.

LOOK TO US.

London, April 17.—The Standard's Marquis correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing Sunday, April 15, says: "The tone of the Standard and Digest's news shows that the Transvaal government is relying on the Boers to do the fighting. Great results are expected from the campaign. The Boers are expected to be the main force in the campaign. The Boers are expected to be the main force in the campaign."

BLOOD FLOWS AT CROTON.

A Sergeant of Militia Is Shot and Killed.

Croton Landing, N. Y., April 17.—The first bloodshed as the outcome of the strike at the Croton dam, was the life blood of Sgt. Robert Douglas, of the Eleventh separate company, of Mount Vernon, who was shot dead by an unknown assassin while he was relieving guard at 8:10 o'clock last night. The soldiers' camp, which was a most mysterious affair.

Dressed in the uniform of his company, the sergeant lay in the Croton valley this morning. The body will be sent to his home in Mount Vernon under a guard of his comrades this afternoon.

ROOSEVELT FAVORED

All Signs Favor His Renomination By the New York Convention.

THE PINS ARE SET UP

Opening Speech Edited By Platt and Odell Fore-shadows Result.

New York, April 17.—Delegates to the Republican state convention thronged the Fifth Avenue hotel early today. A careful census of the district delegates, taken by Congressman Lucius Littauer, was said to have shown that a large majority were in favor of the renomination of Governor Roosevelt. This statement of Mr. Littauer's was practically endorsed in the speech delivered by Temporary Chairman Elshager, and which passed under the eyes of both Senator Platt and Chairman Odell, evidently making their own minds up.

It was pointed out by friends of the governor that this was a clear endorsement of the organization's attitude towards him.

The Republican convention in the Grand Central Palace, B. R. Odell, Jr., chairman of the state committee, called the convention to order, and the Rev. Dr. David J. Barry, of the Marble Collegiate church, delivered an invocation. State resume of the day, New York city was made temporary chairman and addressed the convention at length.

Both of the Westchester county delegations were given seats in the convention with half votes each.

Ex-Congressman L. E. Quigg was made chairman of the committee on resolutions. The usual resolution to refer all resolutions to the committee without discussion was adopted. Mr. Quigg rose to offer a resolution relating to the committee on resolutions when some one called for the cheers. The cheers began feebly, but in an instant from the galleries and the side of the hall came a roar of applause.

The chairman finally rapped the disturbers to order, closing the unpleasant incident. After appointment of committees, the convention took a recess until 4 p. m.

No Desire to Infringe on the Army Engineering Bureau's Field.

Washington, April 17.—To correct a mistaken impression to the effect that the navy department is seeking to infringe upon the army and engineering bureau in the removal of obstructions and control of the inland waters of the United States, Admiral Bradford, chief of the equipment bureau, navy department, has submitted a memorandum to the house committee on appropriations.

This explains the necessity for the various items of appropriation suggested by him in behalf of the hydrographic office, and particularly makes it appear that the appropriation sought for under the head of "continuing the investigations and charting of reported obstructions to navigation in the United States waters of the great lakes" applies to the location only of obstructions, and not to the removal of obstructions that would involve upon the army engineers.

At this point Admiral Bradford's memorandum reads: "Since the survey of the great lakes was completed, the growth of commerce upon them has been unparalleled. Our lake fleet alone is greater than the fleet of any foreign nation, excepting that of Great Britain and Germany. In recent years, the amount of tonnage annually constructed on the great lakes has been greater than that constructed on the Atlantic, Pacific and gulf coasts combined. More than half the heavy steam tonnage in the United States is owned on the great lakes. The vessels in these waters have increased in size as well as in numbers, and their increased draught brings them into contact with obstructions which were not necessary to consider in a survey a generation ago, when deep draught vessels were not employed in the navigation of the great lakes. It has become necessary in some of the shoaler straits and channels to use a drag in order to discover isolated rocks and other obstructions of small superficial area, which would not be discovered by nautical people who understand the needs of the safe navigation of ships."

The prayers were almost identical.

On the day of the battle of Agincourt a fearful scourge of the plague, by which the English army was decimated, swept parts of Europe, and on Friday, Dec. 16, 1513, a general fast for averting of God's wrath was proclaimed. The king and his nobles all stilled sang on the continent, and another day of prayer was observed on Dec. 17, 1513, like other days.

On the declaration of the war between France and England in 1514 a general fast and humiliation before Almighty God was proclaimed on Jan. 13, 1514, and on Jan. 20, 1514, England, under the leadership of Henry VIII, King of France, Fontenoy. This was followed by Prince Henry, Duke of Albany, who was proclaimed his father king. He reached England on Jan. 22, 1514, and on Jan. 25, 1514, a general fast was held to "implore the aid of God against the traitors and rebels." A further fast day, with an address to the king, was held on Jan. 26, 1514, ordered to be observed on Jan. 7, 1516.

In February, 1783, began the revolutionary war with France. It lasted till the peace of Amiens in March, 1802. Years of fasting and abstinence were observed in connection with this war in 1733, 1785, 1786, 1797, 1798, 1799, 1800 and 1801.

ROBERTS PRAISED

British Press Commends Him For Frankly Dealing With Officers' Errors.

PLAYING FOR BULLER

No Words Are Too Strong to Express Condemnation of Him.

London, April 18, 1:55 p. m.--Lord Roberts' criticisms of Gen. Buller, Gen. Warren and Col. Thorneycroft continue to be topics of acute interest. All the London papers comment lengthily on the strictures of the British command-in-chief in South Africa, taking the same lines as the morning papers, praising Lord Roberts for his frankness and speculating upon what the publication of the dispatch at the present moment portends.

Some of them maintain there is nothing left for Buller but to resign. The St. James' Gazette is particularly scathing. Referring to Gen. Buller's reports, it says:

"Never in the history of armies did any commander-in-chief so generally scribble their confessions of failure and defeat, of useless deaths of men, and of discredit to the flag in a manner which suggests a careful selection from the most foully of the slanders of the gutter, the slangy chatter of horsey men, and the gibber of the smoking room late in the evening."

The Globe declares that "a more pitiable record of indecision, plan and confusion in explanation we have little read, and adds that what little reputation Gen. Buller has left has been scattered to the winds."

Practically no developments have been reported so far in today's South African cables. A dispatch from Warrenton, dated Tuesday, April 17, says:

"Finding the Boers busy making new trenches, we exploded Lyddite shells, following these up with the Maxims. The enemy's ambulance was afterwards observed on the spot."

From Cape Town, there is nothing later than Lord Roberts' message of yesterday, and presumably neither side had gained any particular advantage. The theater of war since the last official dispatch was received.

COMMISSION FOR CANADIANS.

Regular Army Appointments for Officers Serving in Africa.

Ottawa, Ont., April 18--The Imperial government has decided to give twenty-four out of the forty-four commissions to be granted to Canadians in the regular army to officers and non-commissioned officers serving in South Africa. Six commissions will be given to Canadian gentlemen and this, with the fourteen which have gone to the Royal Military College, Kingston, will make forty-four in all. Lord Roberts will send the names of twenty-four of those in South Africa whom he recommends as candidates for commissions.

EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE.

Annual Convention of Catholic Colleges Opens at Chicago.

Chicago, April 18--The annual conference of the Catholic colleges of America and Canada began here today at St. James' high school hall. Monsignor Curran, rector of the Catholic university at Washington, D. C., presided. Prominent Catholic educators, representing nearly all the Catholic colleges in the country, are in attendance. Many able papers have been prepared on subjects which are of great importance to the college world. The opening of the conference this year is the unifying of Catholic college education.

The "Relative Merits of Courses in Catholic and Non-Catholic Colleges" was the title of a paper by Rev. Timothy Brosnan, rector of the Catholic university at Washington, D. C. He declared that the 420 non-Catholic colleges in this country are so diverse in their demands that they defy classification.

In the afternoon a paper by Rev. James A. Burns, of the Notre Dame university, entitled "The Effective System of Studies" was discussed. This evening Monsignor Curran, president of the conference, will deliver his annual address.

Among others who are present and will deliver addresses are: Very Rev. Patrick S. McHale, of the Niagara university; Rev. John P. Carroll, of Joseph's college, of Duluth, Iowa; and Rev. M. P. Dowling, of the Creighton university of Omaha.

SCHOOL OF COMMERCE.

A New Departure By the University of Wisconsin.

Chicago, April 18--A special to the Times-Herald from Madison, Wis., says: The establishment of a school of commerce at the University of Wisconsin was unanimously approved by the board of regents at their meeting last night. Professor W. A. Scott is made director of the school, and a professor of commerce is to be appointed by President Adams. The regents also decided to establish a school of history, with Professor F. J. Turner as director. Leave of absence was granted until fall to President Adams, who is ill in the East.

NEW YORK BLAZE.

New York, April 18--Fire today caused a loss of about $75,000 in the big mail and iron bed factory of Charles H. Rogers & Co., at 161, 163 and 165 West Eighth street. The fire was discovered in the cellar near the engine room in No. 163. The engineer and a boy employee, Charles Seales, discovered the blaze. The self-possession of the boy ran up to the third floor at once, where there were thirty girls at work. The girls were hurried, but there was no panic, and they descended the stairs to the street, arriving safely.

WIRE PLANTS START.

American Steel and Wire Company's Pittsburgh Mills Resume.

Pittsburgh, April 18--Suspension of the wire mills of the American Steel and Wire company in this district, over which there was much anxiety, has been brief. The wire departments of the works have opened again, while the nail mills will probably be idle for some time. Orders have been issued for the resumption of the Ninth street Braddock wire plant. All the wire drawing and nail departments are to begin at once. The nail mill is not expected to resume for several weeks, as it is claimed the nail market is stagnant. The resumption of the wire plant is reported at Braddock that the other mills would resume in a short time.

HOT AFTER IT.

American Capitalists Determined to Corral the Big Russian Railway Contract.

Philadelphia, April 18--E. F. Kalkreuth, of this city, and J. H. McCleary, of Richmond, representing prominent capitalists of Philadelphia and Richmond, sailed today from New York on the steamship New York for Southampton.

They are authorized to pledge bonds for any amount of money necessary to secure the contract for the building of a projected railroad from St. Petersburg to Odessa, which will traverse more than half the Russian empire from north to south.

The American agents will go to London, where a conference will be held with Russian military officials. They will then proceed to Paris and Berlin for conferences with other Russian officials.

It is understood that the new railway cannot be constructed at a cost less than $90,000,000.

Should the contract come to this country, the responsibility of the actual construction of the road will be filled by Americans.

All heads of departments for the planning of the road are taken from American offices and workshops and only American material will be used.

WORK STARTS AT CROTON.

Operations Resumed on the Dam Under Military Guard.

Croton Landing, N. Y., April 18--In accordance with the program made last night by Gen. Roe, in command of the troops, work was resumed today at the Croton dam. The strikers made no opposition. About 200 men reported for duty, and the work was resumed. The strikers, who were on guard at the cable anchorage, challenged three men at daylight this morning. They ran away, but O'Brien fired at them but did not find a target. The fire was not returned. Whether the men were strikers is not known.

BUBONIC PLAGUE.

Appears at Red Sea Ports--Decrease in India.

Cairo, April 18--The bubonic plague is reported to have made its appearance at several ports on the Red sea.

PORTE IS OBSTINATE.

Turkey Insists on an Increase in the Duties.

Constantinople, April 18--The porte today replied to the third of the collective notes of the powers on the subject of an increase of 5 per cent in duties. The note announces the intention of the government to adhere to the plan of increasing the duties on account of the heavy condition of Turkish finances.

The ambassadors have decided to address another note to the porte, again stating the objections to such an increase with a previous understanding with the powers.

The tenacity of the porte threatens to have serious results.

ROMINE UNPOPULAR.

Omaha, Neb., April 18--Some time ago Dr. J. S. Romine, of Chadron, purchased land in Sioux county and established a sheep ranch. The settlers complained at his allowing his sheep to roam at will over their land. They protested and requested him to move out, but he declined, asserting he was not trespassing on the rights of any one. One morning recently a herd of his sheep were found dead. Poison had been placed in the water tanks. Anger boiled over. Romine declares he will stay, and the settlers are determined he shall move, and serious trouble is feared.

STRIKE BROKEN.

Meyersdale, Pa., April 18--Meters of the Cumberland and Summit coal company have voted to accept the companies offer of 55 cents a ton and will return to work Thursday morning. This breaks the strike, as other miners in this region will return to work at the same rate in the next few days.

GRIEF FOR THE EARL

Earl Russell's American Marriage May Get Him Into Hot Water.

HAS AN ENGLISH WIFE

And She and Her Mother Are on the War Path.

London, April 18--The cable announcement in the marriage columns of the Times this morning of the wedding of Earl Russell to Miss Cook, at Rema, New York, April 15, has created a sensation here, as it appears that Earl Russell, according to the English law, is still legally married to the first Countess Russell, who is now performing at the Tivoli music hall. The Star thinks the announcement, which also appeared in this morning's Standard, may also be a hoax.

The Westminster Gazette suggests Earl Russell may have secretly secured an American divorce, but it is pointed out that that would not save him from the penalties of the English courts.

When Countess Russell was interviewed on the subject, she was almost prostrated, and is arranging to postpone her stage appearance this evening. She was accompanied by her mother. All the countess knew of the affair was the announcement in the papers. She said:

"When I saw the news the blow was terrible. It seems such a dreadful addition to all my troubles. It is terrible. If it is true, then a man can go to another country and get married after the court of this country has decided against him. It is quite untrue to say that Earl Russell obtained a judicial separation. When the house of lords heard the case it was decided against him. She added:

"Lady Russell has placed herself in the hands of her solicitor, and is not at all inclined to resign herself to the acceptance of her noble husband's family motto, which is: 'What is to be will be.'"

STOREN'S ACTION APPROVED.

Apologized to Spain Without Instructions But Acted Properly.

Washington, April 18--It is learned that no instructions were sent from Washington to Mr. Storor, the United States minister in Madrid, relative to the presentation of regrets for the invitation to the Duc d'Acros, the Spanish minister here, to attend the celebration in Chicago of the destruction of the Spanish fleet in Manila harbor. In other words, Mr. Storor acted on his own responsibility in his representations here.

On the contrary, it is declared that his course was in thorough accord with the opinion of the State department, and that he showed excellent judgment in anticipating a complaint which would have been disserviceable.

OUTLOOK IN IRON

Croakings From New York Are Not Believed By the Trade.

PROSPECTS ARE GOOD

Big Trade and Good Profits Expected When Spring Demand Begins.

Cleveland, April 18--The Iron Trade Review will say in its issue of tomorrow: The truth about the iron market has suffered in much that has appeared in print the past week. For the time being stocks have figured as the commodity of the trade, and iron and steel have been merely contingent. We leave to stock market reviewers and Wall street operators the discovery of motives for some of the happenings and utterances of the week, merely saying on this phase of the situation that the pessimistic statements sent broadcast from New York are not shared by the iron trade at large. The actual trade developments of the week can be summarized in a few words: A reduction from $2.50 to $1.50 in the price of bar iron at Mahoning Valley mill, and from $2.25 to $2 in steel bars at Pittsburgh mill; a drop of about $2 a ton in plates, or to $1.80 Pittsburgh as minimum for tank steel on large contracts; a decline in billets to $2.50 and $2 Pittsburgh, and a shading in the price of foundry iron.

The iron market is enjoying exceptional prosperity this week, as it did last week, last month, the month before and for twelve months before that. Prices may still yield somewhat, or they may remain close to today's basis after the spring demand sets in, but in either event the outlook for large consumption, heavy outputs from furnaces, rolling mills and foundries and for profits that will afford capital and labor unusual returns.

BROWN WAS A BOMB.

Coxey Army Man Stirs Up Missouri Mid-Readers.

Kansas City, Mo., April 18--Carl Brown, of Coxey army fame, was invited to address the morning session of the mass convention of the Missouri Middle-of-the-road Populists today and created consternation among the adherents of the Populist party. Brown, who has been strongly advocated by Admiral Dewey as head of the Populist national ticket, declared Brown, in his characteristic manner, "is up against the iron wall of condition, and defeat for him is inevitable. The head of the duck is the popular idol of the people. Admiral George Dewey, with Wharton Barker or Jeremiah Donnelly for vice president, would be the popular idol of the people."

There was a show of stopping the speaker as he uttered these remarks, but judgment was permitted to continue. "With such a ticket," declared he, "we will stand some show of knocking out both the ticket dominated by the money power and headed by President McKinley. That headed by William J. Bryan."

Silence marked the close of his address. There was but about ten Populists in the first session. After deciding to select twenty-five delegates to the national convention, to be named later, a recess was taken.

CHARLESTON COLLECTOR TO GO.

Customs Official to Be Decapitated For Illegal Practices.

Washington, April 18--The president, acting upon the recommendation of Secretary Gage, will at once remove John K. Tolbert, collector of customs at Charleston, S. C., and appoint to the vacancy, Wallace, E. S., to the vacancy. Tolbert and other officials and employees of the Charleston custom house secreted in the building for their own purposes. Wallace, it is said, will dismiss the deputy collector and at least one auditor, and possibly others who are alleged to have had a hand in the storing of liquor. The clerks who are presumably innocent of wrong-doing will not be disturbed.

THE COLSON TRIAL.

Capt. Golden Testifies to Seeing Colson Shoot.

Frankfort, Ky., April 18--The taking of testimony in the trial of Col. Colson, charged with killing Lieut. Scott and L. W. Demaree, commenced this morning in circuit court. The first witness introduced by the commonwealth was Capt. B. B. Golden, who was badly shot during the duel, and who is supposed to have entered the hotel office with Ethelbert Scott. Golden testified at length as to his whereabouts after arriving in this city up to the time of the shooting.

Golden said he left Scott at the cigar stand and started across the office to the main entrance. Witness did not know whether Scott was following him or not. When near the door he saw Colson arise from his chair and heard some one approaching rapidly behind him.

Colson took steady aim and fired the first shot, "but I don't know who fired the second. I was shot in the back while trying to get out of the room."

In the cross-examination nothing new was brought out, and after two hours on the stand Capt. Golden was excused.

REDUCE STEEL BARS.

Pittsburgh, April 18--It was learned from a meeting of the Bar Mills association held in Pittsburgh last Friday, that the price of steel bars will be reduced to 2 cents, equal to a reduction of $5 a ton. One of the bar mills for this reduction is that the Eastern manufacturers have been selling steel bars in this market at 2 1/2 cents a pound and had secured several good contracts. Several manufacturers who were seen said there is no danger of a general slump in steel prices, and that the price of steel bars will be bought at $2.50 a ton in some cases, the price still remains at $2.50 a ton.

APPROVE EXTENSION.

Washington, April 18--The senate committee on foreign relations agreed to a favorable report on the convention between the United States and Spain, extending for six months the time in which Spanish residents of the Philippines can elect whether they will remain citizens of Spain or become citizens of the Philippines.

ADJOURN IN JUNE

Leaders in Congress Have Agreed on the Date For Adjournment.

BILLS WILL GO OVER

Action on Important Measures Will Be Postponed Until Winter Session.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, April 18--(Special to The Herald)--It has finally been decided by the Republican, Democratic and Populist leaders in both houses of congress that this session of congress shall adjourn on June 12. The reasons for taking this action are plain. Congressmen interested in their own campaigns are anxious to get home to participate in this early. The president is satisfied. Important bills, of necessity, will go over until next winter.

The outcome of the Republican state convention in New York yesterday indicates that Governor Roosevelt will not be forced into the Republican vice presidential race, and that he will be re-nominated for governor of the Empire state. It is probable now that a Western man will be chosen for McKinley's running mate, and Senator Wolcott of Colorado may be selected. Such an outcome would please the president. Wolcott would make a great fight on the stump. If he cannot be nominated, Senator Spooner of Wisconsin is the second choice of McKinley and Hanna.

The Democratic nomination is also becoming interesting. Many candidates in the East are talked of, including Governor Dwyer of New York. If Devey declines, as seems certain, California may have a candidate in Governor Stanford.

The vice presidency is sure to be an interesting contest in both conventions.

It is stated here that Admiral Dewey will eventually present nearly all of his effects to the national museum. Just when this will be done is not known, but it is apparent to those who are in search of relics belonging to great military and naval heroes that the collection of Gen. Washington's army accoutrements are interesting to everybody. One large near the entrance of the museum has in it the military effects which belonged to Gen. Washington at that time when the handful of people which comprised the army were having their long and tedious struggle for liberty. On the top shelf are the three tents, venerable as the "canopy" which sheltered the general and in all probability his staff, during the many weary months of the revolutionary war. These consist of a sleeping tent, a paragon or field tent, and a mess tent, which is somewhat smaller. One is encased in a leather sack, another in a linen bag, or pouch, as they were then called, and the other spread carelessly on the bottom shelf, and they are arranged the tent poles, pins and ropes, which look as though they had been put to their utmost use, especially the rope, which is almost in shreds. A photograph is given which shows the tent poles up in position, and they are in appearance from those of today.

In the center is the camp chest with its compartments lined with carpet, now much rich-ecated, knives and forks, a small gridiron, two small flat tin boxes and several large bottles. Beside the chest are seen the tin plates, meat platters, saucepans with their clumsy wooden handles, and what must have served as a teapot--a tall cylindrical tin can with a handle similar to those of the ordinary saucepans of today, and a top that has a hole in the center about as large as a quarter of a dollar. These must have found room in the chest, as it is a good-sized one. Here, too, can be seen the old bullet-mold secretary, on which, no doubt, the great commander wrote many communications, both official and otherwise. This secretary is a flat leather bag with just one pocket with clasps, and a long strap which was probably used to carry it over the shoulder. The roll and muster of the commander-in-chief's guard for the month of July 182, is also in this case. This company, commonly called the "life guard," was a distinct corps of selected men attached to the person of the commander-in-chief. It was organized in 1776, and all the states from which the continental army was supplied were represented in this corps. This document, though yellow with age, is intact. The writing, however, is not at all legible, because it is so small. The authorities of the museum have had a printed copy of it made so that persons wishing to find out who the men were so honored can readily read the names. If the admiral's effects are kept so long after his death as these have been, they will, perhaps, be interesting to those seeking relics of naval heroes.

ALASKAN EXPLORATIONS.

Washington, April 18--Senator Carter today presented the report of the senate committee on military affairs, made in response to a resolution of the senate adopted last December, directing the committee to report upon the part taken by the army in the exploration of Alaska. The report is an exhaustive repetition, in narrative form, of the various military explorations which have been made of Alaska since the acquisition of that territory. It begins with an account of the expedition of 1858, and includes all made since.

DAMAGE TO STOCK.

Denver, Col., April 18--Reports received here from the graduate indicate that heavy losses of live stock will result from the protracted severe storm. The losses of sheep in the vicinity of Trinidad will aggregate 20,000 head.

ASHESON NOMINATED.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 18--The Twenty-fourth Republican congressional district convention met today and unanimously nominated Hon. E. F. Asheson.

ROMANCE IN GOLD MINING

Searching For Lost Mines In The West Has Caused the Loss of Many Lives of Prospectors.

Legendary Ledges Once Found and Then Lost Have a Peculiar Fascination For the Miners.

There's a lot of romance remaining in gold mining and prospecting, notwithstanding the introduction of practical business ways, scientific methods and capitalized companies. Thus it is still true that nothing else in the realm of mining has such a charm upon prospectors' minds as the stories of lost mines. In all mining regions every year hosts of men risk life and fortune in searching for legendary ledges once found and then lost.

A remarkable story of this nature came from the territorial penitentiary at Yuma, Ariz., the other day, says a Pomona, Cal., correspondent of the New York Sun. Aurelio Dominguez has done with consumption. He had been in prison two years and had nineteen years longer to serve for highway robbery. He called for J. E. Wemple, a friendly guard, and imparted to him information as to the location of the Valaguana mine, which miners forty years ago said would equal the enormously rich Chualarita of Mexico. Dominguez thought enough of the information to resign his office, and he is going to prospect with several Mexicans along the line of information whispered to him by the dying prisoner. The Valaguana is the famous lost mine of Lower California. It is a silver mine, and the ruby ore in it, tradition says, is wonderfully rich. Jose Valaguana was a Mexican governor of the district of Lower California, who fled to La Paz, at the extreme southern end of Lower California, in 1850, during a petty political revolution. On the way he and his party took refuge in an Indian camp, and the Indians, taking a fancy to their visitors, took them out to a canon and showed them the outcropping of a silver ledge. The tradition runs that the silver ore could be clearly traced along the mountain side for some five miles, that the ledge at the surface was twenty-five feet wide, and that there were indications that it widened rapidly toward the surface of the earth. Governor Valaguana promised not to distribute the location of the mine to any one, and he kept the silver ledge always a secret. Notwithstanding the promise, specimens of the ore were assayed and were reported to run 200 ounces to the ton. In July, 1851, the ex-governor was induced to go on an expedition of five men to go and get control of the silver mine. The expedition landed at La Paz. The expedition went toward the country toward the canon where the Indians lived. That was the last seen or heard of the Valaguana party.

Every year since 1851 men have gone in parties of two or three to search for the mine. First and last, several thousand men have climbed over the bald, hard mountains, toiled across the arid wastes, and broiled in summer and shivered in winter while they prospect for the ledge. In 1882 Governor Dominguez reported that that year some 200 men had been vainly trying for months to get a clue to the Valaguana. It seems now that the convict Dominguez was a nihilist, one of the men who were with Governor Valaguana when he and his associates saw the silver ledge, and Dominguez got from him under the influence of alcohol facts that he himself meant to make use of in a search for the mine whenever he got out of prison.

All the deaths from thirst, the sufferings in deserts and the vain roving of prospectors year after year do not keep men from still going into the region of Death Valley, in Inyo county, to find the legendary "Gunsight" mine. In 1834 thirty-two emigrants started to go to the gold fields of California by the Lake City by the Southern route. They suffered so from lack of food and water that in six weeks the party was reduced to nine people. One night, while camping near a rocky ledge, George Donnell discovered that the light on the mountain side had been seen, searching for something with which to replace it. He noticed a white light shining from the rock close at hand, and seeing a piece of it, he speedily whittled and fitted into his hand. The following morning the men resumed their journey. Only five of the party finally reached the settlement in the San Bernardino valley. Here the sight which Donnell had carved in the desert attracted the attention of an old miner, who at once pronounced it pure native silver, and eagerly inquired where it was found.

It is related that a prospecting party was at once organized and a careful search made for what has ever since been known as the "Gunsight" ledge, but failure attended this first effort. Every year from 1834 till now some men have gone in search of the silver deposit where Donnell got his pure silver nugget. Only a few weeks ago a party of prospectors started out from the desert town of Barstow, Cal., to follow what they believed was a sure trail to the long-sought "Gunsight" mine of Death valley.

The last mine most discussed in the Rocky mountain camps, especially those in Northern New Mexico, is the White Comet. A few old miners who knew the rock personally still remain in the Rocky mountains, and the narrative of the excitement he caused when he showed his rich specimens of gold ore is always heard with interest. It is safe to say that several thousand men have at one time and another hunted for the mine. The late millionaire silver king, Nat C. Krewe, of Colorado, was reported in trying to find a lead to it. White was a New Englander, 60 years old, who was in California in 1849. One day in July, 1858, he came into Horse Head Gulch from Northern New Mexico, driving a mule and looking utterly used up. He had something to eat. Some one asked him about his vain searches for a mine.

"Well, just look at that," said White, handing out several pieces of what looked like hard white clay, glittering with electric light, then he suddenly became mum, and, putting his specimens into a bag, went out to find an assayer named Heyl in the camp. Before night it was known that White's specimens showed 1000 ounces of gold to the ton. In the morning a party headed by Senator Sharon's brother Henry called on White and told him that he must give him the mine, and he would help to work it, but he must. He, who was warned that his life would not be worth shucks if he stood off the camp. For a long time he gave excuses, said he didn't know where the mine was. But when the miners threatened that they would kill him if he didn't take them where he got his specimens, he finally consented to guide them.

The trail led northwest across the Rockies. It was a very difficult journey, even for the old miners. It led along rocky trails, up and down canyons and across mountain crests. The first day was a race, and two-thirds of the men broke down. The trail led through a pine and wormout flowery into a bluish canyon, nearly on the boundary between New Mexico and Colorado. There everyone was glad to take a rest by the side of a brook.

"Boys, we'll be there tomorrow. It's about thirty-five miles over that way," said White, pointing to the northwest. "I've got way off my trail, but now I've got my bearings. You'll be the richest of any miners alive when you get over where I'm pointing."

"I guess I'll go and see about my horse," I'm too nervous to sleep now that I'm here," said one of the men. "I'll go and see about my horse," said another. "I'll go and see about my horse," said a third. "I'll go and see about my horse," said a fourth. "I'll go and see about my horse," said a fifth. "I'll go and see about my horse," said a sixth.
